Couldn't Find the Body.

MOMENCE (Ill.) April 15.—For two days an unsuccessful search has been made here for the body of Minnie Williams, said to have been murdered by H. H. Holmes, who is to be hanged in Philadelphia May 7 for the murder of B. F. Pitzel. The cabin on the Parmelee place, which is mentioned in Holmes's confession as the place where the body was burned, was thoroughly investigated. Unless the letters to Holmes and the Sheriff of Philadelphia county bring forth new information, the search will be abandoned.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The World this morning prints the following correspondence from Santiago de Cuba, dated April 7:

"A Spanish force of 1400 men, made up from the Simanca regiment and the Manzanillo guerrillas, under Col. Santos, defeated 800 insurgents under Tamaya, April 2, near Vequita. The insurgents lost 28 killed and 67 wounded, the Spanish loss was insignificant. This defeat enraged the rebels, who were aware that the Spanish Gen. Gonzales with 1000 men must pass a place called Gallego that day, decided to lay in wait for them, The rebels were reinforced by Wilson's party until they numbered 1600. As soon as the Spaniards appeared the Cubans began firing steadily. Gen. Gonzales placed his vanguard in charge of Col. Mendes, who made a gallant defense, but the rebels gained a complete victory. The Spanish abandoned the field, leaving three dead and 117 wounded. Of the Cubans aine were killed and 24 wounded. The insurgents captured sixty guns and a large quantity of ammunition.

"Near Auscats, a spanish captain, Perez, with a band of guerrillas, was defeated on April to by Lieut. Carransea at the head of 400 insurgents. The Spanish loss was nineteen killed thirty-six wounded, the insurgent loss, four killed and nine wounded.

"Gen. Obregon, with 100 Spanish infantry and cavalry, met the insurgent forces of Gen. Vasquez, 800 strong. The insurgent leader attacked the Spanish vanguards with rife and machete charge, which so terrorized the soldiers that the column fied. Gen. Obregon found himself in imminent danger of capture. Of the Spaniards ninety were killed and 185 wounded. The rebels lost four killed and thirty wounded.

"The Spanish commander Garrido, with one battalion of regulars and his guerrilas, 800 in all, met the rebel leader Bonne, with 1700 men, near Montesano, on March 31. CHICAGO, April 15.—A special dispatch to the Times-Herald from Washington says that there is now hope that the efforts of the United States to mediate between Spain and the Cuban insurgents will result in the bringing about of negotiations between the rebeil leaders and the Spanish government. At least, Spain shows signs of acceding to the request recently made by President Cleveland for acceptance of the good offices of the United States. The negotiations are in the hands of Secretary Olney and Señor De Lome, the Spanish Minister at this capital. Señor de Lome, acting under instructions from his government, has made certain inquiries as to the method which the President proposes to follow. If the Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs finally accepts the good offices of this government, Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, the new Consul-General at Havana, will be instructed to sound the insurgent leaders as to their willingness to accept reforms in Cuba, and on these being guaranteed, to lay down their arms.

No bid under 60 per cent. of the face value will be received. The authority to issue the bonds is conferred on Tomas Estrada Palma by the republic of Cuba.

Several Wall-street bankers were seen in reference to the matter, and expressed the belief that the bonds would command a fair price.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) SAN FRANCISCO, April 15 .- The preckels wing of the local Republican party held its primaries this afternoon to select delegates to the State conven tion. The regular ticket was in the in terests of Allison's candidacy, but there were hard contests in many districts, so that the McKinley men will have a representation from this city at the coming convention at Sacramento. In the Thirty-third District an oppo sition ticket was placed in the field, and the workers gave up the fight after get-ting 111 ballots in the box. They saw that the odds against them were too great. They held an informal meeting tonight and decided to appeal to the Committee of Seven. They will contest the election on the ground of fraud, and say that, if necessary, they will appear before the State convention and protest against the seating of the delerates declared elected. The feeling in the district was very bitter, and at one time it was feared the partisans would ecome involved in a fight.

The County Committee met tonigh and divided off into two canvassing poards. The returns of the election were canvassed, and the result will be certified to the Congress Committee of Seven. The protests, where protests will be made, will be filed with the Conress Committee, and in turn the committee will call the matter to the at ention of the secretary of the State Central Committee.

The committee presided over by Joseph S. Spear, Jr., held a primary on Tuesday and elected sixty-five dele gates, who go to Sacramento pledged to support national delegates who will vote and work to secure McKinley the Presidential nomination. THE MISSOURI CONVENTION. mocrats Pledge Themselves Free and Unlimited Colnage. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

SEDALIA (Mo.,) April 15.—The Missouri Democracy in State convention here today pledged itself unequivocally for free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1, and nominated the following delegates-at-large to Chicago: United States Senators G. G. Vest and F. M. Cockrell, Gov. W. J. Stone and G. W. Allen, ex-Mayor of St. Louis. They are pronouncedly in favor of white metal, and are instructed to vote for that issue. Ex-Congressman R. P. Bland's Pres-

Ex-Congressman R. P. Bland's Presidential boom was a decided feature. It was launched by Gov. Stone and approved by the convention with a decisiveness that left no doubt as to the silver champion's strength. The convention, besides being one of the largest in the history of the State, was also one of the most enthusiastic and disorderly on record. Several severe fights were engendered, and an open rupture was threatened when Delegate Nick Bell threw a glass of water in the face of State Chairman Maffit.

One of the bitterest fights of the convention came at the close of the gathering. It arose when C. C. Maffitt of St. Louis, the goldbug leader of the State, was nominated for delegate from the Fourteenth District. The committee divided, Butler of St. Louis and Gov. Stone taking sides, respectively, for and against Maffitt, and making the hottest speeches of the day. For a time a split seemed certain. The roll was called, and Maffitt was turned down on a vote, and George R. Gregory of St. Louis was nominated in his stead. St. Louis refused to vote on the question. The convention adjourned sine die at 12:10 o'clock this morning.

IN THE CONVENTION.

IN THE CONVENTION.

SEDALIA (Mo.,) April 15.—Chairman Maffitt rapped the Democratic State Convention to order at 12:30 o'clock. Congressman William H. Hatch was announced as temporary chairman, and was given an ovation. He made an able address, and throughout his delivery was cheered long and loud. The mention of Bland as one of the most faithful of Democrats brought forth cheers. Hatch begged the leaders to stand by the doctrines of the Democracy as laid Hatch begged the leaders to stand by the doctrines of the Democracy as laid down by its founders, and proposed that the Chicago convention follow the lead taken by the Pertle Springs convention, and adopt an unequivocal silver platform. Whoever the nominee of the Chicago convention for President might be, he said, if his platform be that of true Democracy, there would not be a third-party candidate.

During the progress of temporary organization, two contesting Kansas City delegations were allowed to enter. The call of Congress districts to name selection for delegates and alternates then followed.

A protracted fight over the recogni-followed.

A protracted fight over the recognition of the St. Louis delegates as members of the Resolutions Committee ensued. Judge Gibson of Kansas City, a gubernatorial candidate, and member of the Stone delegation, made a speech to some one in the audience. Delegate Nicholas Bell of St. Louis dashed the dregs of a glass of water he was drinking into Maffitt's face. Edward Butler of St. Louis was hissed when he spoke for recognition of his fellow gold delegates, declaring failure to recognize him would mean the loss of 5000 votes.

The St. Louis gold delegates were finally recognized and recess till 4 o'clock to appoint committees was taken.

The Resolutions Committee organized by naming Thomas Shackelford of Howard, chairman, and J. F. Lloyd of Shelby secretary and almost immediately named a sub-committee with Louis Houck, chairman, to draw up resolutions. Isaac Llonberger of St. Louis was the only gold member of the convention. Dr. D. H. Shields was made chairman of the Credentials Committee and J. D. Farris secretary. The committee was not ready to report when the delegates reconvened at 4 o'clock, and the convention was kept in good humor by the band playing patriotic airs. Not until 8:30 o'clock did the convention reconvene.

The Credentials Committee then, after a hard fight of four hours, reported in fayor of the Kanssa. City

The Credentials Committee then, after a hard fight of four hours, reported in favor of the Kansas City Stone-Brown delegation, a decided victory for Gov. Stone. The faction dominated by Francis and Shelley was completely shut out. The report was adopted. A permanent organization was then effected, M. E. Bellon of Newton being elected permanent chairman and Sam Cook of Mexico, one of the most active silver men in the State, was made secretary, Bellon assumed the gavel and amid great applause made one of the strongest free-silver speeches of the day.

We approve the action of our Senators, Hon, M. F. Cockrell and Hon. George G. Vest, on the financial question, and recommend the reelection of Hon. G. G. Vest to the United States Senate."

The resolutions were signed by every member of the committee except Lionberger of St. Louis, the lone gold delegate. The silver plank was applauded, as were the references to Vest, Cockrell and Stone.

Gov. Stone then set the convention affire by presenting a resolution nominating R. P. Bland as delegate to the Chicago convention. Continuing, he paid a glowing tribute to Bland, mentioning him as the logical candidate of the party. The resolution was adopted by a rising vote. Mr. Bland Immediately arose and declared it would be impossible for him to serve as delegate-atlarge, and declined the honor. Nominations for delegates were then in order. Rules were suspende Denver as did Senator Tillman tonight. The Senator prefaced his speech with a history of the Democratic and Republican parties.

"The Republican party since Hamilton," he said, "has been one of education and the classes. They have monopolized the fruits of the earth and imposed upon the people of this country. We have come to that pass where a few millionaires own more than the fifty millions of Americans do. Republicanism was born in pure motives and in patriotism. Jefferson said in his declaration: 'All men were created frea and equal,' but there was a reservation in it that the men who were black were not free and equal. Lincoln's Declaration of Emancipation included all men. We have those who claim to be Democrats and those who glory in the title of Republicans. We have on one hand the man in the White House masquerading in the clothes of Jefferson and pretending to lay down a new doctrine and a new discipline unknown to any man who has a scintilla of Democracy in his composition. And the apostle of the other party, John Sherman of Ohio, Oh, God, that the name Democracy and the name Republican to a present the Sherman. They have gone far Ohio. Oh, God, that the name Democrates should be given to a man like Cleveland, and the name Republican to a man like Sherman! They have gone far afield from the teachings of the fathers, and strange to say, today they are in union in the purpose to enslave this country and transfer its wealth to a few, and we free Americans claiming of the free and the home of the brave.'

"You Republicans, if there are any much here, who, like blind sheep, drift more and more into the field of wolves, are using your bailots to crush out freedom. And you Democrats, who say you have voted with the party and will continue to vote with ft. God have merey on your imbecility. (Laughter.) But what are you going to do with this other political character, Populism? What can that do for the country or must the country do for it? What caused Populism? It was caused by the men who turned their backs on both parties. What caused the Democrats who taught and felt and believed with Jefferson to turn their backs on Democracy? Simply disgust. There was that impatient class of society which some times files off the handle and gets lost. (Laughter.) These impatient, hotblooded, rash, but patriotic men are the men who arganized the People's party.

"The People's party ought to be one in which every one would be willfing to go, because if we are a free people and believe in the right of the people to govern themselves and the republic, of course we want to belong to the People's party. But what sort of a platform have they? When the masses, I say, were anxious to secure good government, when they did not secure it, it indicates that they do not understand the question or they are led by designing and interested men. These men put out a dragnet. It reached out and corralled an element of communism, anarchism, paternalism and every other ism that has no business in a political party. The result was inevitable. It rose high and swept over Kansas, Colorado and even Southern States, but it did not wash away anything."

The convention then adjourned.

DENVER. April 15.—The Democratic State Convention was called to order at 11:30 o'clock today by Olney Newell, secretary of the State Committee, in the absence of Frank P. Arbuckle, the chairman, who is in Arizona. Arbuckle sent a message that he was in sympathy with the Democrats fighting for free coinage, and concluding: "Manhood and self-respect are more to me than any Federal office."

J. R. Macaliny of Pueblo was unanimously chosen temporary chairman, and made a strong silver speech, as did Permanent Chairman Judge Royal of the same city. The latter, after making a long and sincere plea for the white metal at the ratio of 16 to 1, eulogized Senators Vest and Cockrell of Missouri, and other prominent silver advocates of the East. When he mentioned the name of ex-Congressman Bland, the delegates applauded and cheered. The platform, which was unanimously adopted, deals with no other question, but that of the monetary issue, and favors free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1. The platform is as follows:

The Democratic party of Colorado pledges its unwavering devotion to all the principles of the Democratic faith as laid down by Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson. believing that the evils that now oppress the people are the direct result of a departure from the true principles of Democracy; that the policy inaugurated by the Republican party for the contraction of the currency, and for many years continued by it to the gradual and certain impoverishment of the people, in the face of steadfast opposition from the Democratic party, but adopted and approved by the present administration, has resulted in the creation of an enormous bonded debt in a period of profound peace, visiting a deadly blight on every industry, and carrying discouragement and dismay into the household or every wealth-producer in the land; that there never can be a condition of general welfare unit the volume of a sound and stable currency is equal to the demand of industrial and commercial pursuits, and that the first step eral welfare until the volume of a sound and stable currency is equal to the demand of industrial and commercial pursuits, and that the first step in this direction should be the immediate restoration of sliver to the place it occupied in the currency of the world for centuries previous to 1873.

We. therefore, favor the immediate restoration of the free and untimited coinage of gold and sliver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, as such coin-coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, as such coinage existed prior to 1873, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation, such gold and silver to be a full legal tender for all debts, pub-

IN BRADLEY'S STRONGHOLD. McKinley Forces Are Defeated by a Narrow Margin. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

LOUISVILLE (Ky.,) April 15.-The Republican State Convention, after two long, weary sessions, adjourned shortly after midnight until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. While nothing more than organization and a few nominating speeches were accomplished, the result of the day's proceedings served to make of the day's proceedings served to make certain the control of the Bradley men, securing to the Governor the indorsement of his State as a Presidential candidate, the adoption of a piatform to his liking, containing a flat declaration for the gold standard and the selection of delegates at large from this State favorable to him.

There was a strong McKinley sentiment in the convention and friends of the Ohloan were defeated by a narrow margin on the vote of temporary or ment in the convention and friends of the Ohioan were defeated by a narrow margin on the vote of temporary organization. After that the Bradley men had things their own way.

"The convention was called to order at 2:35 o'clock by Hon. John W. Yerkes, chairman of the State Central Committee, who made a brief speech congratulating the Kentucky Republicans upon the recent victories, paying an eloquent tribute to Gov. Bradley, Maj. McKinley and other leaders and in conclusion placing in nomination as the choice of the Central Committee for temporary chairman, Judge Thomas Z. Morrow of Pulaski county.

The Bradley men placed in nomination George Denny, Jr., of Lexington, and a call of the roll by counties was ordered. The call occupied over two hours and a half, during which time the hall was a scene of confusion. The wote resulted: Morrow 33:45; Denny, 742:1-5. Delegates aggregating 163 votes were passed because of contests.

Judge Morrow, in a short speech in taking the chair, congratulated the Republicans of Kentucky on the progress they had made in the past three years. He recalled the early days, when, he said, he had to get out a search-warrant to find his political associates in this State; the hardships endured by those pioneers of Republicanism, their struggle against almost complete commercial and social ostracism, the gradual development of the party organization in this State, until now the Republicans politically own the State. (Cheers.) The 24,000 votes cast for Abraham Lincoln had grown to 173,000 cast for Bradley. And, he continued, in 1897 the Republicans would have had enough members of the Legislature at Frankfort to put an end to the usefulness of the Jack Chinns.

There was small comfort for Democrats, Judge Morrow said, in the rivalry for leadership among the Republicans. Their strife would end with the announcement of the declaration of this convention. He urged the delegates to act harmoniously in completing the work of the convention. They should, he said, make their indorsement of sound money unequivocal. He favored such protection that every laborer in the land may know the Republican party is his friend. There was an enthusiastic demonstration when the speaker urged every delegate to rally to the support of that superb leaderthe greatest leader any party ever had in any State—Gov. W. O. Bradley.

A significant incident occurred when the speaker, enumerating Kentuckians who shared the achievement, named Congressman Evans and Judge Denny, was interrupted by cries of "Hunter, Hunter," the demonstration lasting several seconds. Judge Morrow attempted to proceed, ignoring the interruption, when he was again interrupted by calls for the Congressman who was the Republican candidate for United States Senator before the last Legislature. They came from all parts of the hall, and caused the doctor, who was on the floor of the convention, to move nervously in his seat. But the speaker was obdurate. He proceeded to the end of his address, without once uttering the name of Hunter.

The temporary organization was then completed by the election of Fred Roberts of Owensboro as secretary, and the appointment of the regular committees, after which the convention took a recess until 8 okclock in the evening.

NEBRASKA'S COHORTS.

Resolutions Denouncing Thurston's Political Activity Are Tabled. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

OMAHA (Neb.,) April 15 .- The State to select four delegates to the national convention convened in Omaha tonight with 1057 delegates present. Notwith-standing the general concession that the body was unanimous for McKinley for President and ready to accept any thing fathered by Senator John M Thurston, the session was by no means harmonious, and a fight of considerable proportions developed early. The opposition did not figure in the organization. William P. McCreary was made temporary chairman and the temporary organization made normannent.

proportions developed early. The opposition did not figure in the organization. William P. McCreary was made temporary chairman and the temporary organization made permanent.

The first ripple of excitement was provoked when ex-Gov. Crounse, one of Nebraska's ploaeer Republicans. asked consent to introduce a resolution. It was granted. When the secretary commenced reading the instrument the storm broke. It was intended as a rebuke to Senator Thurston for his activity in the campaign throughout the State leading up to the sleection of delegates. It recited that the Senator had left his seat in the Senate and, forgetting the dignity of his high office, dabbled in ward politics; that he aspired to be a dictator, and if his methods were to be adopted, the Republicans of the country should cease to claim to represent the voice of the people. It compared him with individuals in ancient and modern history who have assumed the roles of dictators, and concluded with an extended recitation calculated to ridicule Senator Thurston. Senator Thurston was quick to reply, declaring his political career was free from any dishonorable act, and said he was ready to abide by the judgment of the people. The resolutions were tabled without discussion. This was the only demonstration of the opposition.

The following delegates were selected by acciamation and instructed to support McKinley; J. L. Webster, Peter Jensen, T. P. Kennard and George H. Thummel. A number of leading Republicans addressed the convention.

One of the side lights of the convention which at one time seemed likely to develop into interesting proportions was the attitude of the A.P.A. toward McKinley. H. A. Thompson of St. Louis, member of the Executive Committee of the advisory board of the A.P.A., arrived in the city this morning direct from the Cincinnati meeting of the board at which it was decided to oppose the nomination of McKinley. The Nebraska leaders of the branization headed for his room and soon a lively conference was in progress. Thompson announced the object of his visit to be the delivering of a message to the Nebraska members of the order that the delegation to be selected by the State convention should not be instructed for McKinley, but under the circumstances nothing more than an instructed delegation would be asked from Nebraska.

Thompson spoke positively. The order, through its chosen representatives and leaders, had decided absolutely and without reservation, that a fight to the end was to be waged on him as a candidate before the Republican National Convention, and if it did not succeed there it was to be carried to the polis. No good A.P.A., according to the law as laid down, could now or at any time in the future support, lend aid or comfort to the McKinley andidacy. The St. Louis man was finally told that it was too late to change the slate, since the arrangements had been completed to send McKinley delegates to St. Louis, and the conference ended.

At the convention today free silver was turned down. The delegates to the St. Louis convention were instructed to use all honorable means to support McKiniey. The following is the money plank adopted:

"The Republicans of North Dakota, in convention assembled, renew their devotion to the doctrine of protection. The Republicans of North Dakota are united in their demand for honest money. Issued today by the secretary of the Advisory Board of the American Protective Association from which these excerpts are taken:

"After several months of quiet, persistent, painstaking investigation as to the standing and records of these candidates on our principles and American questions, the Executive Committee of the Advisory Board recently met in Washington and New York where, during several sessions, the majority gathered, and statements tabulated and the reports submitted were carefully examined and discussed. Among the conclusions reached were these: That the National Advisory Board adopt no candidate as the candidate which the order should support, as to do so at this time would be most unwise and impolitic.

"Second, After carefully analyzing the evidence adduced, the committee found to be true the charges made against one of the candidates, viz: ex-Gov. McKinley, of discriminating in his appointments in favor of Romanists and against protestants, because the latter were members of the A.P.A. For example, among other appointments, one was of a Roman Catholic Irishman who had been suspended for drunkenness, while the application of an American Protestant, a G.A.R. man, an A.P.A., was rejected on the ground that he belonged to the order, though he had been promised the position by the Governor.

"Among other instances reported to the committee is that of S. W. Lanning of Franklin, O., who was candidate for sheriff. He was a prominent A.P.A. and known to be such, also a man of sterling integrity and so popular that he came within 600 votes of carrying a county that was Democratic by 1500 nominally. After his defeat, backed by the most prominent Republicans in the State for the position of district oil inspector, McKinley said that the reason why he could not use Lanning was because of his prominence in the order.

reason why he could not use Lanning was because of his prominence in the order.

"Third—Among the managers and active supporters, secret or public, of Maj. McKinley, are Richard Kerens, a Romanist of Missouri, who has again and again in the public press denounced the A.P.A. organization in the most vindictive terms, and sought, but in vain, to have the National Republican Convention denounce the organization; also Stephen B. Elkins.
"Of the other candidates, viz., William B. Allison of Iowa, Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, Senator Cullom of II-linois, Gov. Bradley of Kentucky, Gov. Morton of New York, ex-President Harrison and Thomas B. Reed, the committee was satisfied with their Americanism and Thomas B. Reed, the committee was satisfied with their Americanism and sympathy with the principles of the order.

"Concerning the charges against Reed, the committee found them to be groundless. For instance, in regard to the matter of Speaker Reed leaving the chair when the House started to consider the Indian Appropriation Bill, we would state that the House went into the committee of the whole, and when that is done the rule is that the Speaker shall leave his chair, and a chairman is chosen for that time.
"It is also a notable fact that the shall leave his chair, and a chairman is chosen for that time. "It is also a notable fact that the only State conventions that have thus far incorporated principles of our order in the platform are the States that are now booming Mr. Reed, and on such platform, if nominated, he must stand. The committee regrets that it has been unable to make any statement with respect to candidates of the Democratic party, from the fact that there as yet no candidates have come to the surface."

that Mr. McKinley is not the right kind of a man.

"This statement is untrue in part and in whole. Mr. McKinley's Americanism reaches back to the war for independence. William McKinley himself was a private in the Union army while yet a boy, and carried a musket for four years. He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and has been a member of that denomination nearly all his life. His ancestors and his family for two generations have been Protestant Methodists and Presbyterians.

"At this time Mr. McKinley is one of the trustees of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Canton, O.; moreover, Mr. McKinley is not a member of the A.O.H., nor the A.P.A. However, he is a Free Mason, Comrade of the G. A.R., a member of the Union Veterans' Union, Sons of the American Revolution, of the Loyal Legion and of a college fraternity. And these are the only secret societies with which Mr. McKinley has any connection whatever. The charge that his appointments to office while he was Governor of Ohlo were largely made from the Roman Catholic church or any other church is ridiculous and untrue. He believes all men should be permitted to worship God in the manner that squares with conscience.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The triennial international counting of all mails going from one country to another in the Postal Union will take place from May 10 to May 28. The Postoffice Department has therefore ordered all railroad postoffices exchanging mail direct with Canada during that period to exclude from the Canadian mail and forward to either the New York or Boston postoffice for counting, all articles for delivery in New Foundland, Saint Pierre and Miquelon, and to San Francisco or Tacoma all articles for Japan, China, Hawaii and the Australian colonies. All closed mail sacks or packages addressed to the New York and San Francisco postmasters received from Canada of Mexico in railway postal cars during the counting period will be forwarded to those offices intact.

ON CURRENCY.

Directs His Arguments to Laborers.

Points Out the Effect of Free Coinage on Wages.

Draws His Examples from Japan and Mexico.

Standard-Misery Would Surely Follow.

CH ASSOCIATED PRESS WIFE.

CHICAGO, April 15.—Hon. John G.

Carlisle spoke on the currency question at the Auditorium tonight before an audience that filled the great hall to its utmost. The address was delivered under the auspices of the laboring men of Chicago, and they were there in full force, nearly three-quarters of the growd being workingmen.

force, nearly three-quarters of the crowd being workingmen.

Many local Democrats were anxious to obtain an interview with Mr. Carlisle on the political situation in Kentucky, but he refused to discuss politics in any way. He said he had come to Chicago to make an address on the currency question, and that nothing could induce him to talk politics. His address, which was greeted with much applause, and which gave satisfaction to his hearers, was as follows:

Mr. Carlisle opened with the assertion that the effect of the instability of the currency must fail with more force upon the poor than upon the rich man, as must also the results of suspension of industrial activity. Said he: "Labor cannot be hoarded; the idle day is gone forever; lost wakes are never reimbursed; and, therefore, steady employment and good pay in good money are essential to the comfort and happiness of the American laborer and his wife and children, and he will be unfaithful to himself and them if he does not insist upon the adoption and maintenance of such a policy as will most certainly preserve the value and stability of all our currency and promote the regular and profitable conduct of all our industrial emterprises."

He then went on to argue that the

the value and stability of all our currency and promote the regular and profitable conduct of all our industrial enterprises."

He then went on to argue that the opening of the minis to the unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 st gold would drive the $520,00,000 of fold now in use out of the country, and by, at the same time, reducing the purchasing power of all other money, actually reduce the amount of circulating medium instead of increasing it. Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson, he said, first established the ratio between the two metals in the money of this country. They were governed in their decision entirely by the market value of metals, relying in nowise upon the power of the government to establish relative values.

"They reached the conclusion" said the Secretary, "that the true commercial ratio at that time was 15 to 1; that is, that fifteen ounces of silver were equal in value to one ounce of gold, and accordingly the act of 1782, which was our first coinage law, suthorised the coinage of the two metals at that ratio. At the ratio thus established the silver dollar contained $714 grains of fine silver was not in fact equal in value to 24% grains of fine gold; but it was soon discovered that a mistake had been made, and that $714 grains of fine silver was not in fact equal in value to 24% grains of fine gold, and the consequence was that although the difference between the value of a silver dollar and the value of a gold dollar was only about 1½ cents, silver drove gold out of use and out of the country, and from that time we had silver monometallism until after the passage of the sicts of 1834 and 1837.

"The fact that the silver was put into the form of a coin and made legal tender the same as gold, and that both dollars were declared to be worth 100 cents each did not increase the value of the 571½ grains of silver to any extent whatever. The people could not be deceived by mere words printed in a statut; they soon learned that the metal contained in the silver dollar was no

contained in the gold dollar, and they gold contained in the gold dollar, and they gold contained the counting between the counting bet purchase with them as much of the necessaries of life as you can purchase now; and if, after years of contention, privation and industrial disorder, you should at last succeed in so adjusting wages that they would procure at the higher prices of commodities just what they will procure now at the existing prices, what would you have gained by the change from the old to the new conditions?"

The speaker then quoted from the report of the subcommittee of the Committee on Finance of the Senate, submitted March 2, 1893, on the course of prices of labor and the various articles of general consumption during a period of fifty-two years, including the time when specie payments were abandoned after the beginning of the civil war. In 1862, the wages of labor, paid in depreciated paper, were less than 3 percent, higher in paper than when paid in gold, but the prices of the 223 articles used by the laborers and other people in the maintenance of their families were pearly 18 per cent. higher than they were when paid in gold. In 1863, he said, the price of labor had increased 10% per cent, respectively; in 1865, they were 43 and 117 per cent. Secretary Carlisle further called attention to the fact that during those years the government, by its army and navy, had withdrawn hundreds of thousands of men from competition in the labor of the country.

The Secretary quoted from a forthcoming report of the United States Minister to Santiago on the history of the Money of Chile for the past twenty years and its relations to the wages of the Money of Chile for the past twenty years and its relations to the wages are highest, will buy about half what it would twenty years ago. Referring to the fact that Japan is a silver-using country, he said:

"The Japanese silver yen is worth a little less than 50 cents in our money and when the wages of labor, paid in this depreciated coin, are reduced to our standard of value, they appear so insignificant that it is difficult to understand why the people who receive the miserable pittance can li to be prosperous and happy in that country.

"The Mexican dollar contains 377.17 grains of pure silver, or nearly six grains more than is contained in our dollar, and yet, not being sustained by a monetary system which keeps it at a parity with gold, it is worth only about 53 cents in our money. Wages, are paid in silver, and are very low in comparison with the wages paid in this country for the same services, in many instances not having half as much, while the prices of commodities generally are much higher than they are here. The prices of imported articles especially are exorbitantly high in Mexico because they have to be paid for abroad in gold, and the depreciation of their money is so great that it requires nearly $2 in silver to pay one in gold.

"You have doubtless observed recently what appears to be quite a formulable demonstration in favor of the

"You have doubtless observed recently what appears to be quite a formidable demonstration in favor of the free coinage of silver by certain large manufacturing interests in the eastern part of the country, on the ground that if we continue to maintain our present standard of value the silver-standard countries, especially India, China and Japan, will soon be able to undersell them in the markets of the world. Reduced to its simplest form, the proposition of these gentlemen is that manufacturers of certain kinds of goods in this country cannot continue to pay their laborers high wages in gold, or its equivalent, and compete successfully in the markets abroad with the manufacturers of similar goods in silver-standard countries, who pay their laborers low wages in depreciated silver-standard countries, who pay their laborers low wages in depreciated silver-standard therefore they houst orers low wages in depreciated siver and, therefore, they insist that a monetary system shall be adopted here which will give them the advantage of paying for their labor in depreciated which will give them the advantage of paying for their labor in depreciated silver.

"The theory is that with free coinage of legal-tender silver, the wages of labor in this country would be paid in silver dollars worth about half as much as gold dollars, but the products of labor, which would belong to the employer, would be sold for gold in the markets abroad and that the gold thus obtained could be exchanged for silver at about the rate of $1 in gold for $2 in silver; and thus the process would go on, the employer getting gold of full value and the laborer getting depreciated silver, which, in the opinion of these gentlemen, would be a most happy solution of this question.

"If the interests of labor are to be left entirely out of consideration, and if it were not reasonably certain that a sudden revolution in our money system would at once arrest the progress of all our industries and produce almost universal bankruptcy, this scheme to make the employer very rich and the laborer very poor, might be worthy of all our industries and produce almost universal bankruptcy, this scheme to make the employer very rich and the laborer very poor, might be worthy of serious consideration, but the American laborer has a right to demand pay for his work in as good money as the manufacturer receives for his products in any part of the world, and when he surrenders this fight he is doomed to the same fate that has aiready overtaken his brothers in the silver-standard countries. It is but simple justice to say, in this connection, that the great body of employers, a yest majority of the men who have embarked their capital in industrial enterprises and are relying for success upon their skill and energy in the prosecution of their business, do not want the present standard of value overthrown, because they know that the establishment of silver monometallism would be ruinous to them."

The speaker them went on to say that $1,810,897,000 now held in sayings banks in the United States, most of it deposited by laboring people, as well as the hundreds of millions deposited in other banks, building associations, and other institutions, and the billions represented by life-insurance policies, would shrink to hair by the adoption of free colnage of silver. This, he argued, would not only put a hardship upon the frugal abd careful, but would have a tendency to discourage the spirit of saving that is now becoming so prevalent that is now becoming so prevalent in these part of the money deposited in these part of the money of saving institutions, willow kind colnage of legal-tender silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 is established in the country, a very few. If any, of the depositors could survive. I doubt that there is a single financial institution in the country that could sustain the pressure that would be immedially made upon it by its depositors and other creditors, when it became apparent that our standard of value was to be lowered and our currency depreciated by free coinage. Payment of all our obligations had a became and the foreit as a single financial institution in the country that could sustain the pressure that would be mandially withdrawn; every man who owed about the money

"LUCKY'S" KISSES SOON GOT COLD

Lillian Ashley and Her Tale of Woe.

A Brick-mason Finds a Pot of Gold Another Abandoned Infant is Discovered-Cropa Damaged by Frost.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—"I sendyou a thousand kisses," wrote "Lucky Baldwin to his lady friend in the East Baldwin to his lady friend in the East. and then he went on to describe how very much he longed for her to come to California to return them. The letter was sent to Miss Lillian Ashley, who was then at school near Boston. It was in 1891, and she was then 22. Now she is 27, and the plaintiff in a suit for seduction, in which she demands $75,000 damages for herself and the support of her child. Baldwin is the defendant in the suit.

Baldwin had seen the young woman

Baldwin had seen the young woman at her home in the East, and had, she says, made promises to her which opened out a golden future. She was to go to school, to the best colleges the surrounding country could offer, and all at his expense. She was to wear fine clothes and have money in her pocket, and when she had grown a little bit more she was to come West and be his daughter.

Two years after saw her on her way coastward. There was money in her pocket and hope in her heart, and she was going to see "Lucky," who had sent her so many kisses, and who wanted them all returned with interest. Her was was punctuated with telegrams. "Be sure you look for me," said one. "I will be waiting for you," breathed another. "You must come right to the Baldwin Hotel," whispered a third, and so, with the bits of yellow paper in her pocket, she came westward, carrying the thousand kisses. "Lucky" Baldwin could not meet her as he promised, an unsympathetic telegram told ber when she was near Tucson, but it added the cheerful news that she was to go to the Baldwin Hotel any way, and he would see her there. She did go to the Baldwin Hotel, and to San Diego, and to Coronado, and to the Santa Anita ranch, and she had horses and carriages at her disposal whenever she pleased, and her brother was given employment when she sent for him to come out, and everything went along too smoothly to last. Then she told her brother what had happened. Both-were opposed to making a bad matter worse, so nothing was said until the case got too far for concealment. Then she wrote and asked for assistance, and then she pleaded, and now she is bringing suit. The child was born in Los Angeles on December 7, 1893.

This is Miss Ashley's story of the case as set forth in her deposition, which has just arrived from where she is staying in Southern California.

WILL GET ANOTHER TRIAL.

A Riverside County Murderer's Sentence is Set Aside.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.-William Marshall, convicted of murder and sen-

Marshall, convicted of murder and sentenced to death, will get a new trial. The Supreme Court today decided that the lower court erred in charging the jury and that the error was of such a character as to prejudice his defense. Marshall was charged with the murder of Frank Hamilton at Bowers, Riverside county, on April 8, 1895. Hamilton was a negro, and became engaged in a quarrel with Marshall in a Chinese restaurant. Hamilton drew a revolver and warned Marshall away. The latter remarked that if he had a gun he would blow Hamilton's black eyes out. They separated, but met again fifteen minutes later, when Marshall stepped up to Hamilton and remarked: "Now I have got a gun," and fired. A bystander named Larson was shot. Hamilton drew his revolver and each emptied his weapon at the other. Hamilton was named Larson was shot. Hamilton drew his revolver and each emptied his weapon at the other. Hamilton was killed and Marshall was wounded. The evidence showed that Hamilton was shot before he drew his revolver.

The Attorney-General admits that the instruction of the Superior Judge was erroneous, but declares it was not injurious to the defendant because there was no evidence of self-defense. The Supreme Court says the testimony of the defendant did tend to show justification, and, though it was uncorroborated, he had a right to have his evidence considered, and if it were sufficient to raise a reasonable doubt in the minds of the jurors as to whether the killing was justifiable, he was entitled to an acquittal.

The jury, which was sifting in the murder trial, was dismissed until tomorrow. The attorneys for the defense, claiming that Sheriff Johnson was taking an active interest in the case, objected to his summoning a venire, and asked that an elisor be appointed. This was objected to by Dist. Atty. Ryan, but the Judge ruled with the defense, and appointed Coroner Clark to act and to return a jury at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The defense expected to try the insanity question before the jury summoned to try the murder case, thereby hoping to modify the verdict. Should the new jury decide that Raten is responsible, Judge Hinkson will rule that there has been a judicial decision, and will rule out any evidence of insanity upon the trial for murder to follow.

There was a session of the Superior Court tonight, when the special jury empaneled this afternoon began an inquiry to determine whether Simon Raten is sane or insane.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—SENATE. The Senate spent the entire day on the Dupont case, Senator Gray of Deleware arguing against the claim of Mr. Dupont. During the day, Senator Gorman proposed an agreement that a final vote on the Dupont case be taken next Wednesday. Senator Mitchell, in charge of the case, declined to make an agreement at this time. This tender by Senator Gorman was regarded as significant of the confidence of the opposition to Mr. Dupont to resist his claim to a seat. Senator Gray will proceed with his speech tomorrow, after which there is promise of a further clash over taking up the bond resolution, as Senator Allison stated today that the bond question must give way to appropriation bills. Senator Gray yielded at 4 o'clock, and the Senate went into executive session.

At 4:55 o'clock, the Senate resumed its open session. Bills were passed amending the law relating to the protection of salmon fisheries in Alaska, for the sale of public lands by private sale in the State of Missouri and to pay the heirs of Sterling D. Austin 359,287; appropriating $17,000 for acquiring burial grounds at Fort Meigs and Put-in-Bay Island, O., and the interment therein of the remains of soldiers and sailors of the War of 1812.

At 5:30 o'clock the Senate adjourned. HOUSE: The report of the Elections Committee in the case of Gordon vs. Latimer, Third District of South Carolina, in favor of the sitting member, was adopted without division.

Mr. Hull of Iowa, chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, called up the resolution for the appointment of William B. Franklin of Connecticut, Thomas J. Henderson of Illinois, George L. Beale of Maine, and George W. Steele of Indiana, as members of the Board of Managers of the National Soldlers' Homes.

Mr. Blue of Kansas asked three

W. Steele of Indiana, as members of the Board of Managers of the National Soldiers' Homes.

Mr. Blue of Kansas asked three hours to discuss the resolution. He said he held in his hand (flourishing a lot of papers) charges against Gen. Franklin, and Smith, the manager of the Leavenworth Home, for whom the former was responsible, for cruel and brutal treatment of the inmates of the home at Leavenworth. Kan., where he said 2000 soldiers were today practically incarcerated. He proposed to offer an amendment to substitute the name of "that gallant soldier, Gen. O. O. Howard," for that of Gen. Franklin. Mr. Hull declined to make any concession as to the time, and Mr. Blue opened his attack. His purpose, he said, was to 'free the Leavenworth home from the drunken and brutal man now at its head.

"Do you know he has been drunk?" asked Mr. Steel, member of the board. "I do—vomiting, puking drunk—and I will produce the proof."

"Is he not at the head of a Keeley organization?" inquired Mr. Steel, "He is," replied Mr. Blue, "at $1200 a year."

"I do not believe he was drunk," said

"I do not believe he was drunk," said

"I do not believe he was drunk," said Mr. Steel.

"The gentleman," replied Mr. Blue, contemptuously, "is gorged with mis-information regarding these homes."

Continuing, Mr. Blue had read several letters criticizing Gen. Franklin and Gov. Smith, one of them alleging that Gov. Smith was not only a drunk-ard, but a corrupt man. Mr. Blue said he had letters from ixmates of the Leavenworth home, who, if their names were known, would be driven to the road by Gov. Smith. He read a telegram from E. J. Anderson and others urging him to fight Gen. Franklin's reappointment, and telling him that 60,000 soldlers in Kansas were behind 000 soldiers in Kansas were behind him. Another letter read by him said that the writer had enough evidence to hang Smith.

that the writer had enough evidence to hang Smith.

Mr. Blue concluded his array of testimony by reading an affidavit from an inmate of the Leavenworth home, charging Gov. Smith with drunkenness, cruelty and great favoritism. He claimed that Gov. Smith maintained the biggest saloon in Kansas under the shadow of the fing the soldiers fought to save. Last year, he said, the profits of the beer-hall alone were $13,000. That saloon, he said, was run by the man who was the head of the Keeley League.

"Have you any charges to make against the personal character of Gen. Franklin?" asked Mr. Hill of Connecticut.

against the personal character of Gen. Franklin?" asked Mr. Hill of Connecticut.

"I charge." replied Mr. Blue, with great deliberation and emphasis, "that the Inspector's reports show that Gen. Franklin is either grossiy negligent and incompetent, or that he is not honest. He knows of these beer saloons; he knows of Smith's conduct, and, if the reports are true, he holds in his hands, in violation of the law, trust funds that should have been turned into the general fund. For years," he continued, "he was general treasurer of the home. When the law prevented him from continuing in the capacity, he picked up a man Friday and put him in as general treasurer."

Mr. Blue charged that the Inspector's reports showed that "balances had been forced."

"Do you charge misconduct against any othar member, or members, of the board?" asked Mr. Hill.

"Not at present," responded Mr. Blue. "I charge no member except Franklin, because I am not conversant with their acts."

Mr. Blue also read an affidavit charge.

"I charge no member except Franklin, because I am not conversant with their acts."

Mr. Blue also read an affidavit charging that a contract existed whereby the Keeley cure was to be given to inmates for $8, but they were charged $20. What became of the difference the affiant said he did not know.

"Had not the board made an investigation of Gov. Smith's administration?" asked Mr. Hill.

"An investigation made by the board of managers," replied Mr. Blue, "is a roaring farce. No man in the home dares to testify, and I charge here and now that the investigation was made for the purpose of shielding Gov. Smith. It is an open secret," he continued, "that the Committee on Military Affairs voted only 5 to 4 against Gen. Franklin's reappointment. Then, a by some occult influence to which I do not care to refer, one of the members of the committee was induced to change his vote."

Mr. Blue said the inspector's reports would prove that the board of managers was a private corporation, holding government property in its own name, and buying and selling at its own sweet will.

In concluding his arraignment, Mr.

ernment property had been condemned or destroyed and that the board had last year made a trip to the Santa Monica, Cal., home at the cost of $600. He appreciated, he said, all these subtle and powerful influences at work to keep Gen. Franklin on the board. He reiterated and reaffirmed the charges he had made, and concluded with the statement that, as long as he had a piace on the floor, he would defend his comrades against the brutality of the contemptible man at the head of the Leavenworth home.

Mr. Curtis of New York replied to Mr. Blue in a calm and temperate speech. He asked the House to consider the charges preferred against Gen. Franklin, the president of the board of managers, and Gov. Smith. The charges, he said, were old. They had been investigated, and the official report did not substantiate them.

The affidavits produced by Mr. Blue were entirely ex parte. The trouble arose from the complaints and charges made by the post surgeon, Dr. Weaver. He reviewed one testimony in the official report of the investigation to show that the charges had been in no way substantiated. He read many testimonials to the high character and ability of Gov. Smith. With regard to Gen. Franklin he said to those who knew him that he needed no defense. He had been urged for reëlection by the members of the board, who knew his high character and qualifications. In conclusion Mr. Curtis paid a high personal tribute to Gen. Franklin.

Mr. Steele of Indiana, a member of the Board of Managers, made an impressive defense of the board. Mr. Blue's statement that what he did not know about the Soldiers' Home would fill a book, he said, was true, although he had been an active member of the board for four years.

"But," he continued, "what I know about such charges as are brought in here would fill a library. Every member of the board is deluged with all kinds of literature, and I can assure the House that all these charges are carefully investigated from time to time by sub-committees of the board." He eulogized the work of the homes. which, since their establishment, had cared for 75,000 soldiers and had expended $40,000,000 without the loss of a farithing. The Keeley League, he said, was formed in 1892. Over thirteen hundred soldiers had taken the cure, and there had been only thirteen lapses. He denied that any one was forced to take the cure. He had read a telegram from Gov. Morrill of Kansas House in which Gen. Franklin was interested.

"I have heard of nothing that has not been investigated," replied Mr. St sen. Franklin had an insignificant interest.

"Do you, as a member of the board," inquired Mr. Walker of Massachusetts, "intend to keep as governor of the Leavenworth home a man who was drunk all during the war, and is now in the habit of getting drunk?"

Mr. Steele replied that, as a member of the board, he would note to oust Smith if proof were adduced that he had been drunk.

At this point Mr. Poole of New York, who was one of Col. Smith's comrades during the war, frequently, he said, sleeping under the same blanket and drinking from the same canteen with him, gave his personal estimate of him as a soldier and a man. He denied most emphatically that Col. Smith was everdrunk during the war, and paid a high tribute to his bravery as a soldier and ability as a man.

Stalwart Race Inhabits the Vast

William E. Curtis, in writing in the Chicago Record concerning Guiana, says that aside from the mining camps the scattered inhabitants of the interior are Indians, chiefly Caribs and a few half-breeds of Carib and negro blood, called Cobungrus. They retain the many good qualities of the aborigines, adding to them the physique and strength of the West India negro. They are industrious, intelligent, docile and always hospitable to strangers. They love the open air and hate to work in the mines, Their houses consist of four posts suporting a roof of palm leaves. Sometimes thin walls are made of braided leaves and rushes. William E. Curtis, in writing in the posts suporting a roof of paim leaves. Sometimes thin walls are made of braided leaves and rushes.

The men are usually naked except for a loin cloth of dark blue cotton, and ornaments of alligators' teeth, monkeys' teeth, snake rattles and other trophies of the chase. The women wear a single cotton gown, cut low at the top and high at the bottom, quantities of beads around their necks and arms, earrings and other ornaments. They are large-framed, stalwart creatures, capable of any degree of endurance, and they spend most of their lives in the open air. They swim like fish, shoot with guns and bows with equal facility, handle boats as well as the men, and they stor might easily imagine regiments of Amazons such as the early voyagers described. In their wars, which have been infrequent since the sixteenth century, the women have fought side by side with the men, but they have never provoked hostilities. They are as civil and as peaceable as any people in the world. They sleep in hammocks made of grass fibers, handsomely ornamented with feathers and skins of birds and snakes.

The foliage in the forests is marvelous. The colors are intense and the flowering plants are almost infinite in number and variety. The contrast between the bright scarlet of some of the blossoms, the vivid green of the leaves and the huge, dark brown pode of the wild chocolate tree is very striking. The air is always full of the cries of animals, insects and birds. There is no place on earth where vegetable and

ing. The air is always full of the cries of animals, insects and birds. There is no place on earth where vegetable and animal life thrive so luxuriously. The Indians partake so much of the nature of the animal kingdom that they understand by instinct the nature and habits of insects, reptiles, birds and beasts, and they tame and train them without the slightest difficulty. They consider tame animals as legal tender in trade, with which they purchase what they want from their neighbors. They have no use for money. They spin the wild cotton and work up various fiber plants with great skill. They weave exquisite hammocks and handsome robes for ceremonial occasions. They make good pottery and decorate it with the same designs that are found among the Incas of Peru.

Penny Wise and 500 Pounds Foolish

(California Fruit Grower:) At a recent meeting of the State Horticultural Society, President Lelong spoke of a large orchardist in this State who, not long since, came to this city to buy Paris green with which to spray his orchards. When urged by Mr. Lelong to buy the pure article at a cost of about 25 cents per pound, the prominent orchardist swore by the beard of the Prophet that he would let his fruit go unsprayed before he would pay that price; and stoutly alleged that no man could afford to spray an orchard at so outrageous a cost for Paris green. Although assured by Mr. Lelong that only the pure article or that nearly pure is profitable to use in the orchard, the gentleman referred to finally made his purchases after much negotiation at about 6½ cents per pound for so-called Paris green. Of course the merest infant knows he did not get Paris green, and that his money and time in using it will be wasted. But this man could not afford to spray his trees with something which would practically insure a crop, that is a few pounds of pure Paris green, but evidently thought he could afford to use was not Paris green of the for it.

Now let us see what this prominent fruit-grower probably made by his bad management in using so-called Paris green at 4½ cents a pound, which was not Paris green, and which can do his fruit no good.

We know nothing of the size of his orchard, but let us assume it to be 100 acres, with 30 trees to the acre. Mr. B. F. Walton informs us that of the solution of 1 pound Paris green to 200 solution of 1 pound Paris green to 200 acres.

B. F. Watton Into the Section of 1 pound Paris green to 200 gallons of water, about 2½ gallons per tree would be the average amount used in bearing orchards. One pound of tree would be the average amount in bearing orchards. One pound of Paris green costing, say 25 cents, would be enough for one acre of trees and cost less than one-third of a cent per tree; and 100 pounds, costing $25, would be sufficient to effectively spray once. the orchard of 100 acres containing 8000 trees. Assuming that it would cost one dollar per acre for pure material and labor to spay one acre, or $100 for 100 acres, it would appear that the man who paid $25 for pure Paris green, would have something to show for his labor and expense in spraying; but who he should pay $4.50 for his spraying material and $75 for labor, would lose the whole outlay, for the substance used would be wholly worthless.

An old gentleman in New York city, whose temper is somewhat irascible, says, concerning Ripans Tabules: "I always keep a box in the drawer of my desk, and when I find that, in a discussion with a caller, I am beginning to get angry, I take a Tabule. If I do this, I avoid a disordered stomach. If I do not, I often have a hesdache, and go home depressed with and go home depressed with fatigue. Sometimes, if the man I am talking to is really a pretty good fellow, I give him a Tabule also. Two taken in this way invariably sweeten the temper, compose the stomach and preserve friendship."

THE DAY NURSERY. First Anniversary Celebrated Yes terday Afternoon. The first anniversary of the King's Daughter's Day Nursey was celebrated yesterday afternoon at the crowded little cottage down on the corner of Jackson and Center streets. The tiny rooms were prettily decorated with flowers; the tea table was presided over by Mrs. Paddock and Mrs. Hamilton, and the fruitade was dispensed by Miss Tatham and Miss Beardsley. The Reception Committee included Mmes. Landt, Alruitade was dispensed by Miss Tatham and Miss Beardsley. The Reception Committee included Mmes. Landt, Alford and Morse. Mrs. Jarvis, the president, presided, and reports were read by the secretaries. A balance was reported on hand of $13, and the building fund now amounts to $180. The nursery is supported by contributions from the Assistance League, the German Benevolent Society, the Epworth Circle of the Methodist Church, the East Side King's Daughters, the Prospect Park, the Long Beach, Tropico and Glendale circles, and the monthly subscriptions of individuals. The expenses amount to $50 a month, and the subscriptions of individuals. The expenses amount to $50 a month, and the subscriptions to but $40, making a continual struggle to scurry up the deficit, and make both ends meet. The friends of the institution are anxious to build a larger home, as the present quarters in the little rented cottage are altogether inadequate. The nursery enables working mothers to leave their little children in a safe and comfortable place, while they are obliged to be away from home. earning a living for themselves and their families. For 5 cents a day, each child brought to the nursery is given two good meals, a warm dinner at noon and a supper at 5 o'clock of bread and butter, milk, and perhaps a little fruit, and is washed and kept clean. Mrs. Turnbull, the faithful matron, with the assistance of one girl, cares for the children, who yesterday numbered eighteen. Those who are old enough are sent to the Stimson-Lafayette Kindergarten, and cared for the rest of the day at the nursery. The King's Daughters meet once a month, and sew for the children. Mrs. Turnbull often assists the mothers to get work, as well as caring for their children.

Those present yesterday afternoon were Mmes. Jarvis, Binder, Paddock, Weaver, Lord, F. Kerkow, E. Clark, Sonibrick, Webb, Hawksford, Harris, Birdsall, Clarkson, Gridley, Kennedy, Kimball, Maxwell, Topham, Hine, Gardner, Harris, Taylor, Johanson, Grosser, Sister Florence, Dr. Mary Scott, Mi

IN SOCIAL SPHERES.

The seven-handed euchre party given yesterday afternoon by Miss Mullen, at her home on South Grand avenue, in honor of the wooden wedding of her sister, Mrs. Hoffman, was an exceedingly delightful affair. The house was decorated with a charming arrangement of La Fiesta colors, carried out in the front drawing-room in masses of red and yellow roses and greens. In the back parlor the large mirror was wreathed with Australian paims, and about the mantel were yellow marguerites and scarlet poinsettias. The chandellers were garlanded with sprays of red fuchsias. In the hall, quantities of yellow marguerites were used, and in the library and sitting-room, there were more roses and marguerites. The refreshments, which included several unique dishes, were also carried out in La Fiesta colors. Reynolds catered for the affair. Miss Tallant won the first prize, a beautiful fiesta spoon, of gold; the second, a rare silver filigree Turkish dagger for the hair, was won by Miss H. Tallant, and the consolation, a silver-filigree Turkish locket, was bestowed upon Miss Strong. Mrs. Mullen wore a handsome gown, the skirt of black silk crepon, trimmed with jet, and the waist of violet silk, veiled with black point d'esprit, and trimmed with green velvet. Miss Mullen was in white Swiss, with Irish point lace, and bows of fiesta ribbons. The tally cards were in the form of green leaves, tied with fiesta colors. Those present were: Mms. Charles Baker, J. J. Bergin. David Collins, Lewis A. Grant, Eugene Ives, James Kays, Henry O'Melveny, Von Schlutterbach, the Misses Ball. Baszett, Bluett, Doran, Desmond, A. DAVIS-BOWERS.

The wedding of Miss Mattie Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Davis, to Harry & Bowers, last evening at the residence of the bride's parents on Estrelia avenue, was a very predy affair. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock, by the Rev. A. C. Smither, in the presence of about sixty-five friends. The bride was charming in a dainty gown of white duchesses lace. She carried a cluster of white carnations, tied with white satin ribbon. The Mendelssohn "Wedding March" was played by Mrs. C. Harvey, as the bridal party entered. A little flower-girl, Barbara Fisher, gowned in white organdie, over white silk, with trimmings of Valenciennes lace, preceded the bride, walking backward and strewing roses in her path. The bridal party stood in the bay-window, in which a background had been formed of a colid mass of callas and white roses. Above them was a huge lover's knot of broad, white satin ribbon, and at either side were graceful portieres of white roses and smilax looped back with white ribbons. Ropes of smilax were swung from the chandeller to the corners of the room, and white roses and tumbled from huge baskets fastened against an easel. Over 700 callas were used in the decorations. white roses were arranged about in bowls and tumbled from huge baskets fastened against an easel. Over 700 callas were used in the decorations. Pink and white roses and carnations were used in profusion in the back parlor, and over the wide doorway arched date-palms and white roses. The hall was all in red roses and date-palms, and the library, where the gifts were displayed, was pretty with pink and white roses, and tall pink-shaded lamps.

The dining-room, where Slaten served the refreshments, the decorations were in pink. A pink azalea formed the centerpiece of the table, and papyrus, roses and carnations were effectively massed about the room. Ropes of smilax swung from the chandeller to the corners of the table. Mmes. E. J. Holloway of Minneapolis, J. W. Bushnell and H. C. Fisher assisted in receiving, Mrs. Davis wore a handsome gown of black silk, with jet garniture. The bride's traveling gown was a stylish novelty suit, in fawn tone, the waist trimmed with fawn silk, and iridescent edging. Her hat was of green straw, trimmed with Persian ribbon in pink and green shades. Mr. and Mrs. Bowers, after a visit at Santa Barbara, will reside at No. 112 East Twenty-seventh street, where they will be at home, the first and second Wednesdays after May 10.

ANOTHER OBJECTION TO HUNTINGTON SCHEME. THE

There is one important matter which should not be forgotten in considering the various phases of this harbor question. Should the government locate deep-water harbor at Mr. Huntington's private site, it does not mean only that he would control the deep-water commerce of this region, but also that we should lose the competition in railroad transportation from the East which we now enjoy.

Times has shown how Mr. Huntington controls a majority of the bonds of the Atlantic and Pacific road, which road refused to come in at the recent reorganization of the Santa Fe and now only has a temporary traffic arrangement with that company. Mr. Huntington could consequently at any time shut off from us competition over the line of the Santa Fe system, should he so desire. At the same time, there is little probability that the Salt Lake road, the construction of which has so long been anxiously awaited, would be built unless it could secure an entrance to a free harbor. At least, it would certainly be years before any independent company would undertake to construct it under such circumstances. Thus, at one sweep, this city would lose its commercial independence on the ocean and its railroad competition to the East.

It is not necessary to explain to any intelligent reader of The Times who has resided in this section for ten years or more, how much of the wonderful growth of Los Angeles and the surrounding country, that forms such a contrast to the growth of that section north of the Tehachepi, is due to the arrival of the Santa Fe in Los Angeles ten years ago, thus securing us railroad competition to the East. In fact, the commencement of our wonderful growth is dated by careful observers who have thoroughly investigated the ing the City Council of Los Angeles by subject from the time that the Santa Fe Company hauled its first freight into to rush through, by stealth, a resolu-

the city. Here, then, is another important reason why every patriotic citizen of Los Angeles should continue to do his level best for the selection of the people's site as a place for a government deep-

It is difficult to see how any intelligent citizen who is truly loyal to Los defeat of any and all of his political as-Angeles can possibly fail to understand pirations. the importance of having the harbon at a site which will not be controlled by a private corporation. It is difficult to understand how any patriotic citizen can conscientiously say that "it does not matter where the harbor goes, so long as we get one."

The logic of the situation is plain. Stand fast for the government site, and through the country at large to better back up your Senator in his efforts to our condition in this respect, and to ### secure its improvement. SOME HOPE OF PEACE

The Spanish Minister at Washington Senor de Lome, has intimated to Sec Olney that under certain condi tions Spain may be willing to accep recently tendered by President Cleve land, for the settlement of the Cuban

It is evident that the Spanish government is weary of the long contest, and is anxious to secure peace at almost any price. Whether the insurgents will agree to any terms short of absolute independence is problematical. Spain will not grant this unless compelled to do so. It might be wise for the insurgents to accept autonomy, or practical home government, for the present. This would be a long step toward indepen-ence, which must come sooner or later If the United States government suc eeeds in bringing peace to Cuba, on any terms fairly satisfactory to both aides, it will be a decided diplomatic

The Southern Pacific Company has at something like a million dollars at San Pedro. Why should it give up that site and spend nearly a million dollars more at Santa Monica, unless out definite lines of action for the ac-complishment of certain ends, chief among which is the levying by the State Legislature of a State road by which the State is to take a hand in building at least one good highway hrough every town in the State."

This proposition is simply following in the wake of Massachusetts, New Jersey and other States where the State tax method exists, and as a result, smooth and indestructible highways abound. New York and Pennsyl vania are moving in the same direction that of adopting the State-tax method which is certain to secure a general system of good roads.

Under this plan the State pays a certain proportion of the cost of building the county highways, those great agrineed to be kept in the best of repair for travel and traffic. Rome was wise and she built roads that should last for centuries. Over them she could nove her mighty armies, and by them she was inseparably linked with her outlying subjects. But we require good roads, not for military purposes out for our industrial purposes, and for purposes of pleasure. We might with a little united and determined effort soon have as good roads here in California as are found everywhere in England and France. There is no one need here in California that is more pronounced than this, and some action should be taken to answer that need The bicycle will be one of the greatest boons of modern invention if it is the means of arousing public sentiment upon this important subject sufficiently to stir the public mind to action. It would be of inestimable value to Cali fornia if this could be done. the McKinley law were in line with > Huntington's hirelings continue talk about "the double appropriation" for a harbor on this coast. The double appropriation, from the Southern Pa cific standpoint, means some $3,000,000 for Huntington's harbor, and $392,000 or one-eighth as much, for the gov ernment's chosen harbor-site at San Pedro. This would be a double appro priation with a vengeance. Huntington's hired mouthpieces glibly discuss this scheme as though it were a bona fide, legitimate proposition, when they know well enough that its realization would be the sacrifice of the people's free harbor for the benefit of Huntington and his cormorant corporation. But intelligent people are not deceived by such rot.

The Sacramento Bee and a few other incoherent organs which are engaged in a Quixotic crusade on behalf of the free-coinage fallacy, are doing their ost to divide the Republican party of California into two hostile camps The attempt will not be a success. The Republicans of California have too much good sense to be led into a false position by the drivel of these fool orsound and to the point:

"It is a safe proposition to defeat any man identified with the railroad ring. What this district needs in Congress is a capable, fearless representative, free from all taint or suspicion of affiliation with any member of the shyster brigade who do politics for Lindley and his crowd of place-hunters. Lindley represents the worst element in politics. It is time to turn him and his crowd of subsidized political hacks down. We gans. They are willing to trust to the wisdom of the National Republican Convention, and to confide to it the task of framing, not only the financial plank of the national platform, but every other plank. This talk of a "solid California delegation to St. Louis pledged to vote only for a free-silver candidate for President on a free-silver plank," is the wildest kind of iridescent lunacy.

Regarding the report that has com from Washington to the effect that Huntington offered the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors $100,000 to do his bidding, some people claim that he could not afford to pay that muchthat it is more than the goods would be worth to him. Not so! The big wharf at Santa Monica Canyon cost, it is understood, over $500,000. It is stated that the rough weather which frequently visits this choice harbor site has had such a disastrous effect on the whar that it is not likely to last two years longer unless the government provides some $3,000,000. It will easily be seen that Uncle Collis could well afford to pay out $100,000 as a bribe, and "make money on the goods."

In another column appears an interview with Gen. I. N. Walker, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, who is making a tour of the Grand Army posts of the country. Gen. Walker declares, among other things, that the people of the country East and West, believe that an ade quate protective tariff is a pre-requisite to a return of national prosperity, and that Maj. McKinley is looked upon as the most thorough exponent of the pro tective principle. For this reason among others, Maj. McKinley is pre eminently the people's candidate fo President.

If the government should expend at Santa Monica the $3,000,000 asked for by Huntington, our coast would still be without a deep-water harbor of the first class. Nature has placed an eternal veto upon any attempts of man to create a first-class harbor in a place which she decreed from the remote ages should be an open roadstead. The governmen might pour its wealth into the deep sea at Santa Monica, but it would not avail for the creation of a deep-water harbon worthy the name.

Voters at the primaries should make sure how candidates stand on the financial question. Strict loyalty to soundmoney principles should be exacted Blind adherence to the free-coinage falacy is disloyalty to true Republicanism, because the Republican party has been the steady and staunch advocate of an honest dollar, worth 100 cents everywhere, at all times and under all ditions. Let no man be sent as a delegate to any district convention who is known to be "shaky" on the money sca is reported to have said that philosophy is the health of the mind. Mr. Reed of Maine is evidently a close student of the ancient philosopher, for, when a member of Congress attempted Hampshire episode, he is reported to have replied: "The uncertainties of life give the greatest zest to our experi-ence. It would be a very stupid world-if everything turned out as expected."

Col. Bland's boom having been aunched at an inland port-to-wit, edalia, Mo,-it necessarily had to be the heads of the launchers, and the boom, like the Irishman's steamboat, will have to go creeping along over dry ground for six weeks in the long month of August, crying, 'Wather! Wather!' "

All this talk of a third term for Mr. Cleveland is very much like counting chickens before they are hatched. Even if Mr. Cleveland secures the Democratic nomination, it does not follow that he would again be elected President of the United States. Oh, no; it does not follow, not by a very considerable chunk.

The free-trade howlers never wearled during the campaign of 1892 of howling into the ears of the workingmen of the country the "dinner-pail" doctrine They are not likely to hear so much of it during the present campaign, as four years of Democratic administration have left them mighty little dinner to put in the pail.

If Mr. "Me-too" Platt doesn't hurry back from Florida he will lose his "Greater New York" scheme, and Morton, too. Mayor Strong is of the opinion that New York is as big as it ought to be, and has vetoed the measure Won't those Chicago fellows rejoice and be glad!

Perhaps the members of the Council ho insulted the people of Los Angeles by passing that harbor resolution may What are you going to do about it? The voters of Los Angeles will show hem what they are going to do about it when they go to the polls at the coming municipal election.

The still, small boom of Richard P Bland has been launched at Sedalia Mo., an inland port, by the way. Mr Bland authorizes the original and start ling announcement that while he is not a candidate for President, he is in the hands of his friends, or words to that effect.

Why should the government maintain a large corps of expert civil engineers if their recommendations, made after careful investigation, are to be cast aside at the dictation of a man whose only resources of influence are hi pocketbook and his unmitigated gall?

Loyal to McKinley.

(New York Commercial Advertiser.)
Ex-Judge Stevenson Burke of Cleveland, O., thinks the logic of the leaders who have combined against McKinley is all wrong. In fact, by his deductions the anti-McKinley combination is a house of cards that will fall easily the moment the leaders attempt to settle on a single candidate to defeat McKinley. The ex-Judge, who is at the Fifthavenue Hotel, said to a Commercial Advertiser reporter that this important fact seemed to be overlooked by the anti-McKinley men: "When the combination leaders attempt to vote their various State delegations against McKinley for a second choice, they will be unable to do so. Why, in over one-half of the States where there are favorite sons McKinley is the second choice. Even in New York State, I believe McKinley is the second choice. I see that the Tribune made a canvass of the solid citizens of Brooklyn, and discovered that 83 per cent, of them were really for McKinley. This shows the drift even in this State." enator Platt of New York that the ambition of his life is to be Secretary of the Treasury. Probably the best per-formance, for the money, ever given in Los Angeles is that of the Carleton Dos Angeles is that of the careton Opera Company, now playing at the Burbank Theater in Gilbert and Sulli-van's opera, "H.M.S. Pinafore," and "The Charity Giris." The principal roles are most advantageously handled, and the chorus is far above the average. Tonight the bill will be changed to the "Mikado." Tomorrow evening, "Fra Diavolo," and Saturday afternoon and evening, "H.M.S. Pinafore" will conclude the week.

ORPHEUM. The Corty brothers have ORPHEUM. The Corty brothers have made one of the biggest hits in the history of this house. Their feats of athletics and their ground and lofty tumbling and knockabout comicalities from the parallel bars is one of the funniest acts ever seen on any stage. There are numerous other good features in the programme—quite enough, indeed, to afford an evening's entertainment to one seeking a good, clean performance.

HAZARD'S PAVILION. "The Con ner Grocery" was presented at Hazard's Pavilion last night by the Elleford Company to a good-sized audience. Miss Jessie Norton as Jamsie Nolan was in her element as a mischlevous boy. Her singing and banjo-playing was received with rounds of applause. W. J. Elleford gave a capital rendition of the good-hearted Irishman, Daddy Nolan. The other characters were ably portrayed by the support.

Quay and Plast Confab.

(Washington Evening Star:) The presence together in Florida of Senator Quay and Thomas C. Platt conveys to the McKinley men a very definite meaning. These two leaders have not only the same end in view, but all the information necessary to enable them to decide upon some master stroke if it is yet time for such a thing. Over half the delegates to compose the St. Louis convention have been chosen, and the situation in the territory where conventions are yet to be held is pretty well understood.

But, the question is asked, what can they do? They are astute politicians. Given a situation where shrewd tactics and tireless work would avail anything, and they would be dreaded in opposition. They have strength as matters stand. Mr. Platt has a certain hold on New York, Mr. Quay a stronger hold on Pennsylvania, and for a time in the convention they will work in harmony with the New England contingent, New York, Pennsylvania and New England, taken together, compel attention.

The McKinley men share in the general interest felt in the Quay-and-Platt confab. It is conceded to be worthy of note. Those two men are of the kind to play a game, once begun, out. They are not easily discouraged. They are working now with their eyes wide open. Mr. Platt knows all about New York and New England, Mr. Quay all about Pennsylvania, and together they have just received from Col. Clarkson a full report of the situation in the West. They are within easy reach of any additional particulars desirable about the situation in the Fouth. What, therefore, shall the harvest be? What new features will they add to their programme while taking their lessure in the South? ATTRACTION TONIGHT. Roland Reed will begin his engagement in "The Politician" at the Los Angeles Theater this evening. Mr. Reed continues to have large audiences throughout the country, to laugh at his humorous work, and as Limber he is right in his element. The piece is entirely free from horse play, the audiences passing from laugh to laugh, through nearly three hours, which owes its humor to a higher source and the most legitimate resources of the comedian. A strong character of the play is Cleopatra Sturgess, a woman of the new dispensation. Miss Isadore Rush plays this part in a series of mannish gowns which are as becoming as her acting is pluuant. The play is a remarkably clever satire upon modern politics. On Friday and Saturday matinée, "The Woman Hater" will be presented, and on Saturday evening, "Lend Me Your Wife." "I am president of the William Wicke Manufacturing Company, a concern that is engaged in two important lines of production. We import mahogany from Mexico and Spanish cedar from Cuba, in the shape of logs, and make them up into various articles, turning out cigar boxes chiefly. We also make cigar ribbons, bindings for underwear and woolen blankets, employing about one thousand men in both factories. Now, under the McKinley tariff law, business was good and our plants were running full time. For the last three years the conditions have been reversed; trade has been dull, and in all that period we haven't made a full week. The fact that our operatives have stayed with us is proof that they couldn't do any better elsewhere, and argues a universal depression. To my mind, this is the most forcible object lesson possible on the relative merits of the two kinds of tariff we have experienced. I haven't seen a manufacturer who doesn't believe that, with the election of McKinley, we will have a returning floodtide of prosperity, and in this they are not actuated by wholly selfish motives." A Barren Device. A Barren Device.

(San Francisco Bulletin:) Some of the Republican opponents of McKinley are circulating reports that the American Protective Association will oppose McKinley, both in the convention and before the people. There is very slight foundation for these reports. On what ground can the American Protective Association refuse to support McKinley, should he be nominated? To single out McKinley as the especial object of their opposition would be to admit the truth of many charges made against the organization. The Republican party is older than the A.P.A. association. Since its organization in 1865 it has been distinctively an American party. It has made war on no religion, nor has it made itself the especial advocate of any. Its members are

If the A.P.A.s decline to accept McKinley, or if they act in a body against him, good Americans will ask what this association wants. What is the object of its political activity? What purpose has it in view that the election of McKinley would thwart? The American Protective Association is now believed to be actuated by patriotic motives. It has the credit of San Diego in Line.

SAN DIEGO, April 15.—(Special Correspondence.) The primaries here last night selected men for Grant, McKinley and Bowers to the county convention. The on j question seemed to be whether delegates should "recommend" or "instruct" for Grant. It is believed that the county convention will "instruct" for Grant.

W. Morse, who has been contemplating this extensive move for some time. The price of ice for the coming summer will be determined by the executive officers, and the report has been circulated that there will be a marked advance, as the accompaniment of a move to corner the ice market. It is known that some stockholders in the Knickerbooker, who sold out to the Consolidated, are now regretting their action, in view of the profitable increase in rates now believed to be contemplated.

his latest public utterance, Mr. Belmont says to his party that "above all must we begin, and begin at once, to bruise McKinleyism wherever it shows its head, whether in coinage, the silver standard currency, taxation or tariff." Undoubtedly McKinleyism will stand a little bruising in spots, and Mr. Belmont has indicated some of them; but he must deal tenderly with the tariff end of the thing, or he will displease his patron saint, the Hon. David B. Hill. Mr. Hill stands for free and unadulterated rum, but he is against free trade, if not from principle, at least out of respect for the opinions of his large and prosperous constituency. A writer in one of the English reviews relates that during a conversation with George Eliot, not long before her death, a vase toppled over on the mantelpiece. The great writer quickly and unconsciously put out her hand to stop its fall. "I hope," said she, replacing it, "that the time will come when we shall instinctively hold up the man or woman who begins to fall as naturally and unconsciously as we arrest a falling piece of furniture or an ornament."

A tutor of one of the Oxford colleges who limped in his walk, was some years ago accosted by a well-known politician who asked him if he was not the chaplain of the college at such a time, naming the year. The doctor replied that he was. The interrogator observed: "I knew you by your limp," "Well," said the doctor, "it seemed my limping made a deeper impression than my preaching." "Ah, doctor," was the reply, with ready wit, "it is the highest compliment we can pay a minister to say that he is known by his walk rather than by his conversation."

The Ideal Editor.

The Ideal Editor.

(Washington Post:) The ideal editor is one who knows just what to keep out of his paper.

(Lynchburg Review:) The general run of people, who imagine they know more about running a newspaper than the man who is doing his level best at the business can't understand why the above is true. They can't understand what a great mass of material passes through the hands of the editor and how he has to leave out the bulk of it altogether and correct and condense that which he does use to make it available. The amount of matter accepted and used by a newspaper is very small in proportion to the amount rejected for one reason or another as unsuited to its columns, and the care and responsibility exercised in the rejection of unavoidable matter is correspondingly greater. Editors have to pass over a great quantity of stuff to get the right quality. With blue pencil and pen and scissors a constant process is going on, winnowing the grain from the chaff, and when everything is considered the familiar dictum stated by the Post ought to become clear, even to the dull and superficial.

SALLY LUNN,

by Miss Juliet Corson, Founder of the New York Cooking School,

This famous Southern light bread was made with home made yeast by the old negro cooks; but modern culinary art has improved it by applying the quick action of the soda and cream of tartar of which the best baking powders are composed. By choice I use Cleveland's.

Sift three heaped teaspoonfuls of Cleve-land's baking powder and one of salt with a quart of dry flour. Melt a scant half cup of butter in one cup of milk and one of water warmed together. Beat four eggs to a cream, mix with them the milk, water, and melted butter; butter a deep Russia iron pan, and see that the heat of the oven is moderate; then quickly stir the flour with the milk, etc., making a smooth batter; pour it into the buttered pan, and bake it for about three-quarters of an hour, until a broom-straw run into it can be withdrawn clean. Serve it hos at once.

MAD WITH DRINK.

william A. Forbes went on a tear is ast might, a rip-roaring, pistol-firing, screaming attack of intoxication, which ended in Forbes being arrested and sent to the City Jail, where he wept bitterly because the cruel world would not let him kill, murder and destroy as much as he liked.

Forbes lives at No. 1014 Wilde street, with his father, an expressman. Both his father and his mother have done everything in their power to make a man of him, but Forbes wastes his time and money and ruins his health and his prespects of success by a dissolute life. Forbes's father gave him a horse and express wagon and tried to get him to earn an honest living. But the young man works only spasmodically, and often disappears for days at a time, going on drunken sprees.

Last evening Forbes got roaring drunk, Then he went to a loaging-house on Fourth street, near Broadway, to pay a call upon a young woman. She refused to even speak with him in his drunken state. Then Forbes grew angry, byandished a pistol, cursed and swore, and terrorized the loaging-house. A telephone message was sent to the Police Station for help, but hefore a policeman could arrive a friend had taken Forbes in charge, got Forbes's buggy, which the police had put in a stable on finding the horse wandering timessly up and down, and taken Forbes home.

The riend succeeded in getting the drunken fellow to his home on Wilde street. Aided by three men. he got Forbes into his room and upon his bed. Then Forbes began to blubber. But the weeping spell soon passed off. He jumped up, drew his pistol and began to yell and curse, and brandish the weapon, as if he were gone clean mad. He chased everybody out of the house, fired a shot at his gray-haired father, fired at his mother, and fired, at the friend who had saved him from arrest by bringing him home.

A second time the officer was summoned. The patrol wagon hurried to the scene of the trouble. The electric power-house, from which some one had telephoned for an officer, was tightly barricaded and up and down the str

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) CHICAGO, April 15.—A cable messag

CHICAGO, April 15.—A cable message from Cape Town reports the killing of three engineers near Buluwayo. The names of the victims are given as Ham's mond and Palmer. Miss May B. Squire, manager of Handel Music Hall, has grave fears that the third is her cousin, Richard Lyle Mason, who was in the vicinity of Buluwayo when last heard from. The last letter received from him give his address as "Care A. R. Hammond, Buluwayo, Matabeleland, South Africa." The letter was dated January 18, and was received here March 18. It was written in the heart of Matabeleland, 500 miles from the coast, and was taken by a native courier thirty miles to Buluwayo to be posted.

Mason was given exclusive charge of the mines in the Zambesi district, Matabeleland, and at the time he wrote was engaged in moving, with a force of twenty men and 100 mules, some heavy machinery required for the development of the mines. They had passed beyond the fever district, and were forty or fifty miles district, and he had no desire to get nearly because "to be fifty or f and Mason were two of the three victims of the natives. Mason, it is known, had two other engineers associated with him in the Zambesi mining district.

IN THE HANDS OF THE NATIVES LONDON. April 15.—A dispatch from Buluwayo says that the whole country is in the hands of the rebellious natives, and they are moving in great force northward. It will require a large force of troops to dislodge them.

TAKING PRECAUTIONS.

NEW YORK. April 15.—A special to the Herald from Cairo says that it is rumored that a party of dervishes is north of the British post at Akasheh, and precautions have been taken to protect communication with that point. Prince Aziza, cousin of the Khedive, who served with the German and English cavalry, has been attached to the Egyptian staff and will go to the front.

A FAMILY JAR.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher Have a Little Quarrel.

Quarrel.

In a lodging-house on Third street, just east of Main, lives a man named Fisher with his wife. The pair have quarreled much of late. The husband accuses his wife of being insanely jeal-ous. Last night the landlady was horified by hearing the crash of chairs and the sounds of a scuffie within the room. In great alarm, she awakened her husband and sent him off to sumher husband and sent him off to sum-her husband and sent him off to summon a policeman.

Officer Long sped to the scene and knocked upon the door of the Fishers' room. By that time the noise within had subsided. The policeman ordered the warring couple to open the door. A feminine voice told him to go away and announced that the door must remain shut. The policeman threatened to break in the door. Break it in, then," said Mrs. Fisher. As he hesitated a moment, from within the room came the sound of someone raising the window. The Fisher family was evidently preparing to unceremoniously depart. Officer Long rushed around outside, stopped them just in time and after exacting a promise they would stop clawing each other's eyes out, left Mr. and Mrs. Fisher in peace.

A Venesuelan Warship Sails.

NEW YORK, April 15.—A special to the Herald from La Guayara, Venesuela, says that the Venesuelan warship, Rivas, with troops on board under the command of Gen. Paredas, has sailed from that port. The vessel steered an easterly course. Her commander has sealed orders. The sailing of the warship is regarded here as significant.

THE GREEN DRAGON.

Will Be Seen in the Fiesta

Executive Committee of the flesta, consisting of Messrs. Pridham, Willard, Francis and Rule, left yesterday afternoon to attend the Santa Barbara flower festival, which was opened with becoming ceremonies yes terday morning. A number of the flesta officials have already gone to Santa Barbara to stir up enthusiasm for the ming celebration down here.

The merchants of the city have been requested by the Fiesta Committee to give a half-holiday on Wednesday, April 23. and Saturday, April 26, to their clerks and employes generally was started among the merchants themselves.

Secretary Willard has received information to the effect that the big Chinese dragon, which will appear with fiesta parades, has left Marysville on a Southern Pacific special, and will be rushed straight through to Los Angeles. This wonderful piece of Chinese handlwork is 800 feet long, and is made in sections so that it can be transported from place to place.

A stand is to be erected in Sixth-street Park for the ceremonies attendant on raising the flag on Children's day. The stand is for the purpose of the audience. The great flag-pole, one of the largest in the State, is already in position.

The sale of seats for the accommodation of the general public who wish to view the parade, began yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. The opening was very satisfactory, and if continued, all the seats will shortly be sold. The tickets for the fireworks display at Athletic Park on Friday night, April 25, will be put on sale at Blanchard & Fitzgerald's store, and the management advises people to buy tickets beforehand, as the rush is expected to be great.

The Fiesta Ball Committee is much pleased with the receipt of the following note of acceptance:

Mrs. Clara H. Percy.

Yes, as I touched the bell of 45 Everett street, this city, a lady appeared as the door with a warm, genial smile on her face that indicated home as I came within. I had hardly conversed five minutes with Mrs. Clara H. Percy before I became acquainted with the native humor and grace of this good woman. Woman is the word—a motherly woman conveys the idea better. She told me much that was interesting and true. She told me of her travels through the East and West Indies, of her journey through Japha and of her delight with San Francisco. She told me at one time she was in feeble health, She told me how much she searched for good health, how difficult it seemed for her to obtain it. Then she told me the glad truth concerning the native remedy, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparillia.

much she searched for good health, how difficult it seemed for her to obtain it. Then she told me the glad truth concerning the native remedy, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla.

She said to me that she could never take mineral drugs because mineral drugs seemed to irritate her stomach. She told me that she could detect iodide of potassium almost as soon as it reached her palate, no matter in what disguise or in what form or shape it was in. She told me how glad she was that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla contained no mineral drugs, no iodide of potassium or stomach irritants. She said "that it did seems strange that while Edison could look through a block of wood six inches in thickness, some people could not see the nose on their face," and she marveled how people could take a remedy containing iodide of potassium, that produces pimples and irritates the stomach, when they can just as well use Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, which is as pure as the noonday sun.

These kind expressions were thrice welcomed, for not only were the words glorious, the language eloquent, but the manner of conveying them was so kind and motherly that even her most extraordinary expressions sounded sweet and refreshing. Mrs. Clara H. Percy assured me that she did not improve in health until she returned to San Francisco and until she beganataking. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. She mended from the first. Her stomach became a better digester, no pimples appeared on her face, no uneasiness was experienced, and, said she, "the medicine is so nice to take."

You can hardly call Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla a medicine because it is not masty. Try some of the other Sarsaparilla—taste them—they make you sick at the stomach, and are quite likely to make you more sick if you continue taking them. Taste Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla—taste them—they make you sick at the stomach, and are quite likely to make you more sick if you continue taking them. The Goddess in All Her Glory at Santa Barbara.

Flower Festival is a Brilliantly Beautiful Success.

The City by the Sea Crowded with Visitors to View the Spectacle.

The Parade as a Thing of Beauty.

SANTA BARBARA, April 15.—(Regular Correspondence.) Yesterday saw the opening of the Santa Barbara Flower Festival with the rose exhibit and rosebud parade in the afternoon and the promenade concert in the evening by the Philharmonic Society, under the direction of Herr Schuy. The street decorations were not quite finished and the work on them was retarted by a stiff breeze which prevailed during the greater part of the day and made havoc with the palm branches and streamers of gay bunting branches and streamers of gay bunting which fluttered from the front of nearly every building.

Santa Barbara did not mind a little available room in the town was in demand to accommodate the throngs of visitors who came from all parts of the country to be present at the famous Feast of Flowers.

The streets were spanned with arches made of date and fan palms, arches made of date and fan palms, brightened with many-colored streamers, and every pillar and doorway was masked with the broad, tropical leaves which make the most effective feature in all decorations for festivals in the Land of Sunshine. All incoming trains were crowded to the platforms with visitors, and every available article on wheels was pressed into service to accommodate the sightseers who utilized the day before the grand parade and Battle of the Flowers to take in every point of interest in the surrounding country.

The Rose Exhibit was the principal feature of yesterday's festivity. It was feature of yesterday's festivity. It was held in a large circular canvas pavilion adjoining the Arlington Hotel. In spite of the high wind, which made the circular tent-roof flap like a mainsail in a squall, the pavilion presented a gay and tropical appearance, banked as it was with palms, ferns and the choicest blossoms that even this favored spot can produce. From the tall pole in the center, long streamers of palepink and blue radiated to the circular walls, which were covered with white, and draped with palest yellow, forming a delicate and effective background for the broad leaved palms and lacy ferns. The central pole itself was covered with pale-yellow, and supported a large circular hoop which was arranged to be a blaze of incandescent lights in the evening.

cular hoop which was arranged to be a blaze of incandescent lights in the evening.

A huge round table formed the central decoration of the pavilion, and was built around the pole. Here the rarest ferns were banked towering above masses of roses and carnations, in all bright and delicate shades of color. On every side were arranged long tables, laden with the different exhibits, which might have come from the gardens of the gods. Opposite the entrance was a deep recess, lined with a solid curtain of fan-palms, where, in the early part of the afternoon, the Spanish String Band lent the charm of quaint, tinkling melody to the pretty scene.

The outer edge of the pavilion was built up with a wide double ledge, upon which were displayed choice semi-tropical flowers and fruits. Date-palms were everywhere, the graceful drooping sprays outlined against the white background, and the effect of all the broad-leaved plants was everywhere lightened by the slender branches and delicate, pointed leaves of the Japanese bamboo. Heaps of oranges, lemons, custard apples, citrons and monster strawberries were piled among the flowers, and clusters of bananas hung against the wall.

Nasturtiums and eschcholtzias added a golden blaze to the general effect of vivid color, and helped to carry out the festival colors of pink, blue and gold.

IN THE PAVILION.

By 3 o'clock the navilion was crowded with visitors, and the Flower Festival was fairly opened. The initial proceswith visitors, and the Flower Festival was fairly opened. The initial procession was, appropriately, the rosebud parade, and a prettier show could not well inaugurate the feast of flowers. Eight tiny carriages, each a mass of blossoms, and containing a small pink and white human blossom, were pushed slowly around the large circle of the pavilion, amid the hearty applause and admiring comments of the audience. The motive power of the gay little line of charlots was fittingly fresh and dainty, for each carriage was pushed by a small girl clad in white, with a nurse's cap of white muslin upon her pretty head.

First in the line came a large double carriage, which was a mass of white and pale-yellow Banksia roses, and in which lay two pretty bables, Wilbur and Rebecca Sawyer, the twin children of Edward F. Sawyer of Santa Barboara. The flower-twined handles of the miniature charlot were held by two little dark-haired malds, Bertha and Bertle Steley, also twins, and barely old enough to push and guide their dainty burden through the crowd, which pressed forward to admire the pretty sight.

Next came a carriage also covered

Next came a carriage also covered with the miniature Banksia roses, relieved with smilax, and making a pretty. Derfumed nest out of which little Maude Heyl smiled at the spectators, and evidently felt quite secure under the careful guidance of her sister Ethelene.

George Russell Mitchell, a sturdy young gentleman, who has evidently had about a year's experience of the ups and downs of this world, followed gallantly after the ladies, enthroned in royal style in a nest of pink roses, covered by a canopy of the same flowers. This carriage was pushed by Grace Stafford, whose fresh white frock was gay with roses to match the decorations on the tiny wagon.

One of the prettiest groups in the parade was that formed by the children of Mr. Bean, five of them, the two babies in carriages pulled by the three little girls, May, Edna and Irma, harnessed with ropes of flowers. Master Daniel Bean came first, by right of his occupancy of the supreme household position of "the baby," and the second carriage was occupied by his brother, Raymond, the next in rank. Both baby wagons were draped in muslin of a delicate shade of mauve the floral decorations being the purple blossoms of the wild ground-almond, pale-pink rosebuds and feathery sprays of yellow musiard. The little girls were all dressed in white, and the tandem harness was made of twisted sprays of the mustard.

Clearman Jaquith was another little man, who rode with great dignity in a a dark-eyed little fellow, whose baby beauty was most appropriately set in a blaze of vellow and flame-colored nasturtiums. From parasol to wheels, the small wagon was a mass of gay blossoms, and the dazzling combination of beautiful baby and bright flowers was too much for the judges, for, on the third time-of passing the stand the blue ribbon was pinned upon the floral canopy, and the silver cup lay among the flame-colored blossoms at little Francis's feet. He did not seem at all elated by his honors, but regarded with a grave and somewhat disdainful look the crowds who pressed around to do homage to the little monarh of this unique baby-show.

show. The whole procession was so charming that the managers acceded to the universal request for a repetition in the evening, and promised other prizes, as it had been extremely difficult to arrive at a decision, and every carriage, baby and all, was pretty enough to have carried off the cup by general consent.

At the commencement of the parade the String Band was replaced by the Philadelphia Marine Band, whose scarlet uniforms and glittering instruments made a bright dash of color in the palm-lined recess, and who supplied dashing military music for the rest of the day.

California is noted, lemons, oranges and times. There are also to be found among the exhibits loquats and a few other varieties, which are now being introduced in this section. Though the number of varieties of fruits displayed is not large, they are of their class very fine, and would attract attention in any display of fruits.

The display of flowers, especially of roses, is very fine, and their like cannot be excelled anywhere. Under this same head can be mentioned a great many varieties of wild flowers, for which Santa Barbara county is well-deservedly noted, on exhibitor has not less than two hundred varieties of wild flowers and grasses on display.

One of the handsomest displays of flowers is that of Miss A. S. C. Blake, who resides up Mission Cañon. Miss Blake is not competing for a prize. The handsomest in Miss Blake's display is the Aspelnium belageria. Its peculiarity of growth adds to the interest in the plant.

The display of John Spence is one of the most attractive and interesting of any of the florar exhibits. Forumately for the exhibitor it is well placed, being located immediately in the center of the pavilion and erected in ties which better show off its beauties than if placed on the many tables surrounding the room. Mr. Spence's exhibit contains palms, grasses, roses, pinks, ferns, sunflowers and many other rare and beautiful plants, A most remarkably beautiful plants, A most remarkably beautiful plant in the display of Mr. Spence is the Bird of Paradise, or as it is designated botanically, Sirelitia Augustifolia alba. Dr. Lorenzo Yates, the director of this flower and fruit exhibition, has a large entity of cacti. There are many varieties of cactus, some of exceeding rarity. J. J. Perkins has a fine display of naval oranges. This may be said to be the finest display of this variety of oranges seen at the pavilion.
G. Y. Gillesple has a fine display of rare palms. There is no other exhibit in the pavilion that will compare with the rarity of the plams that Mr. Gillesple has on exhibition. He has palms in his display that cannot be duplicated in this section. Among his collection is the Ciero Denderon Belfori. This is a most beautiful plant, and attracted as much attention, if not more, than any other exhibit in the pavilion.
Mrs. Dr. R. J. Hall has a beautiful display of roses. This exhibit is from plants not over three years old, and it wonderful to what proficiency of beauty this lady has brought her shrubs in so short a time. The flowers of this exhibit were grown at Dr. Hall's residence, a short distance beyond the old mission.

On the left as you enter the pavillan is a fine display of cut flowers, the exhibit of Miss Neal.

THE EVENING SHOW.

The pavilion was filled again in the evening with a crowd as large as that which attended the afternoon display. The Philharmonic Society Orchestra of sixty pieces gave a successful promenade concert under the direction of

The Council of Labor is for San Pedro Alone, At a regular meeting of the Los An-geles County Council of Labor last evening the position of The Times on the harbor question was indorsed. The following statement was read and a mo tion for its indorsement passed with only one dissenting voice: "The issue has at last been distinctly defined. As we view the harbor matter, there is either one side or the other for for San Pedro and the people's harbon or he is against San Pedro. There is no middle ground! The citizen who advocates the proposition of two harbors off the Los Angeles-county coast. both to be created by the expenditure of the people's money, is influenced to such action by one of the following motives: First, he is the tool of Mr. Huntington and the corporations he represents. Second, he is so at the behest of a political boss. Third, he favors Santa Monica because his individual interests will be subserved thereby.

"There will not be two deep-sea harbors off the coast of this county. To place them there would be a wasteful expenditure of the money of the people. You ask why? Because they are unnecessary and are not required by the demands of commerce. ### A TROUBLE-BREEDING LETTER.

The two men were arrested by Officer Singleton, who guards that dangerous crossing, and taken to the City Jail. They were soon out again on $20 bail. Miss Jennings has a nice exhibit of Justice Owens will take up the case to-

The trouble all arose over a letter. Andrews is a motorman, and his wife is district manager of the World's Mutual Benefit Society, and is connected with other organizations. Brown wrote a business letter and sent it to eastern headquarters, a letter which cast reflections upon Mrs. Andrews's character for veracity. The firm to which the letter was sent forwarded it to Andrews. He and his wife were filled with great wrath when they read the epistle. They went forth in search of Brown, and on finding him proceeded to make things lively. The trouble all arose over a letter.

The Charge Was Unfounded.

The two suits recently filed by Messrs Parker & Gootschalk, real estate deal ers and money brokers, preferring cer ers and money brokers, preferring certain charges against B. R. Berlin, have both been promptly dismissed for want of proper cause. Preliminary examination on the first charge was had last Wednesday, and on hearing of testimony of complainants' witnesses alone, the charge was promptly dismissed by the court yesterday. Hearing was had on the second charge in Justice Morrison's court, with a jury, and, upon consideration of complainants' testimony, this, the second action, met the mony, this, the second action, met the fate of the first. ### Man Ejected-Money Kept.

Complaint was made to the Distric Attorney yesterday by a deaf and dumb man, of his treatment by a benedumb man, of his treatment by a benefit association. He had been a member for some time and paid his entrance fee and dues promptly. Finally, going to the office of the company, to make a payment or attend to some business connected with the organization, it became known to the officers that he was deaf and dumb. This disqualified him for membership, and his certificate was cancelled. None of the money he had paid in was restored to him and he wanted to know what recourse, if any, he had. The case will be investigated.

A Fast Chinaman.

A Fast Chinaman.

Ah Luey is a vegetable peddler who for some time has been in the habit of driving down Bellevue avenue at a fast and furious pace. Officer Arguello has again and again called to him to moderate his pace. The Chinaman has replied with mocking words and paid no heed. So yesterday the policeman lassoced the Chinaman's horse as it went rushing by and took Ah Luey before Justice Owens. The judge fined the Mongolian $5 as a punishment for fast driving.

Suit of D. S. Hutchins Against the Humane Society.

The suit of D. S. Hutchins vs. the Los Angeles Humane Society et al., compensation as Humane Officer and agent, came to trial yesterday in De-partment Six of the Superior Court. In his complaint, Mr. Hutchins set that he was engaged at a salary of $100 per month, and that since April 1, 1895, he had received altogethe $146.33, leaving a balance of $453.67 still due, for which he sued, together with due, for which he sued, together with the Times of yesterday, announcing that the Supreme Court had upheld the Superior Ccurt in deciding that the bond act, under which thousands of dollars worth of street improvements have been done in Los Angeles, is constitutional. This dispatch was confirmed by a telegram which the City Attorney received from H. T. Palmer of Oakland, who is an authority on matters of law pertaining to street improvements. The full text of the court's decision is expected to arrive today, and its coming will be awaited with much interest by those who have property or bonds infected by the decision.

Yesterday both men were discharged from custody by Judge Smith, the informations being set aside. It was apparent that Vegas could not be convicted of the serious offense alleged to have been committed on account of his intoxication at the time; and, on the other hand, Jordan, though perhaps over-zealous in the punishment of his fellow-workman, could not be blamed for interefering. This view of the case appeared to be satisfactory to all concerned.

ing owned by Refugia R. de Cline; which is located not far from the river between Seventh and Eighth streets in this city. Fortunately, the attempt at incendiarism was discovered in time to prevent the total destruction of the building. Mrs. Cline testified yesterday to having seen Nunez kindling the fire and standing just outside the basement, looking underneath the house. Her-son, Fred, gave corroborative testimony, saying that he distinctly recognized the defendant at the time, and saw him fanning the flames, to insure ignition of the building.

The offense was committed at about 7 p.m. and the young man, Fred, swore he saw the defendant running away from the building after he had the flames well under way, or when he ascertained that he was discovered. Nunez had been taking supper at the house of Mrs. Cline two or three times a week for about two months prior to the fire but had been asked by her son to stay away, as his mother was in poor circumstances and did not wish to have her household expenses increased by such means.

that he was afficted with suicidal motor circumstances and did not wish to have her household expenses increased by such means.

The theory of the prosecution, as thus far developed, is that Nunez set fire to the house in revenge for his dismissal. The trial will be resumed today.

COURT-STREET HILL.

Temporary Injunction Preventing Cat Ordered by Judge Van Dyke yesterday, restraining John M. Glass, as Chief of Police of Los Angeles, as Chief of Police of Los Angeles, from making further excavation on Courthouse street at its junction with Broadway. Suit had been brought by Rudoif Sherer, asking for a permanent injunction, and alleging that the continuance of the work would take from his house the natural support of the soil and cause it to cave down. The plaintiff in his petition set forth that he had been damaged already to the amount of $500 and that the completion of the proposed excavation, would cause him a further loss aggregating $4500. Pending the trial of the cause, a temporary injunction was granted, a bond in $1000 being filed.

The chain gang has for some time been employed on the work in question, it being the intention to erect an engine house upon the land. The hill towers high above the level of Broadway, and it has not been thought probable that the street as laid out, would ever be graded or otherwise opened to traffic.

Don't Turn and Stare.

(Nineteenth Century:) Two women pass each other in the street of a provincial town; they are not acquainted, yet it is long odds that one of them turns around to look after the other—very short odds against both doing so. It is not the gait or the figure, or the hair of the stranger that has attracted attention, it is the dress, and not the person within it. The gentle anarchists who are busy organizing the debrutalization of man will, of course, attribute this little failing to the vacuity of the feminine mind by reason of man's tyranny in excluding women from boards of directors and other intellectual arenas.

It may be conceded that psychology and betterment are more recondite fields than millinery, but this would be but a dull world and far ugiler than it is if every woman had a soul above chiffons. Odds grenadine and tarlatan; chiffons. Odds grenadine and tarlatan; that were a consummation by no nieans desirable. No, let all men who have eyes to see withal or hearts to lose set great store by the pains bestowed on pretty dressing; but if one may speak and live, the art should be studied with subtler tact than is sometimes seen. It should be better concealed; it is distressing to see a young woman's eyes wandering over the dress of her with whom she is talking, for if the mind be engaged in taking note of external detail, conversation ceases to be intercourse, and becomes the crackling of thorns under the pot.

Gen. Walker, for the past three months has been making a tour of the country, visiting the various G.A.R. posts in the States where the order flourishes. From New England he has passed through the Middle States, and has eventually reached California in his itinerary. The general, with his party, is en route for Santa Cruz, where the department encampment takes place on the 22d of this month.

In the corridors of the Westminster Hotel last evening Gen. Walker chatted pleasantly concerning his tour and the situation of the country as it appeared to him in the course of his travels. The general is a well-built, keen-eyed man, with closely-cropped gray whiskers, wearing a double-breasted Prince Albert coat, on the left lapel of which reposes the bronze button that is worn alike by the commander-in-chief and the humblest member of the Grand Army of the Republic. Looking you straight in the eye as he speaks, his manner is indicative of the thorough-bred soldier, whose military disposition has been smoothed by the finesse acquired through an intimate acquaintance with worldly men and things.

"When I was elected commander-in-chief of the army," said Gen. Walker, "I made the promise to visit the posts in the army from Maine to California. I am redeeming that promise, and am at this time closing up a three-months'

the East?"
"Oh," replied the general, "we don't mix up politics with the Grand Army—at least, one kind of politics, and as a Grand Army man and officer. I have no statement to make regarding politics and political candidates. But from the standpoint of a man who has traveled from section to section of the the stand political candidates. But from the standpoint of a man who has trav-eled from section to section of the country, and has kept his eyes open, while traveling, I can perhaps tell you something of interest, if not of value. You want to know who the people—the people, mind you—are talking of for President?

East to West, as the coming nominee of the Republican party for the Presidency."

"And that man is—"

"McKinley of Ohio," repiled the Grand Army chief. "The fact is, the people of the country seem to believe that what they need above everything else, at this time, to bring about national prosperity, is a proper protective tariff, and McKinley stands more prominently identified with that dectrine than does, perhaps, any other statesman of the country. His name is in the moutiff of men from East to West, and the belief seems almost universal that an administration under him would bring about on era of great national prosperity.

"I am not a partisan of Maj. McKinley, and I cannot say that he would be my first choice for the Presidency. My home is in Indianapolis. I am a near neighbor and close friend of Gen. Harrison, and admire his character greatly. I consider it, of course, out of the question for him to be made, at this time, a candidate for Presidential honors, and that, I find, is the feeling wherever I have been. In the extreme East, in New England, the people are naturally for Reed, or the majority of them are. But, as a second choice, McKinley appears to be a unanimous favorite. In the West he is undoubtedly the first choice of the great, plain people, and on the Coast, I am told, there is a very strong feeling that favors his nomination as a candidate by the national convention.

"Maj. McKinley is a personal friend of mine, and I should do nothing but rejoice at any honors he might receive from the party."

Mrs. Chapin, the chairman, delivered an address that was interrupted by frequent applause. The burden of her speech was that the nation should honor the heroes who fought its battles, while they were still living, and not wait to crown their monuments with funeral chaplets. As their number grows less, the survivors of the great conflict should not be forgotten, but should be regarded with ever more honor and respect. WHIST STORIES.

The Game a Prominent Figure in strange stories are told of laying, but none can excel this Some years ago there was a whistclub in Somersetshire, Eng., composed mostly of ministers. They met every Sunday evening in the back parior of a barber-shop. Four of these were one time acting as palibearers at the funeral of a reverend brother, when a delay occurred, owing to the grave being not quite ready, and the coffin was set down at the chancel. By way of whiling away the time, one of them produced a pack of cards from his pocket and proposed a few hands of whist.

The rest gladly assented, and they were deep in their game, using the coffin as a table, when the sexton came to announce that the preparations were complete.

Goldsmith tells of an old lady, who, lying sick unto death, played cards with the curate to pass the time away, and, after winning all his money, had just proposed when the revolution broke out in Paris, repeated and frantic messages were sent to Charles X, informing him of the state of affairs. The King was engrossed in cards, however, and not to be disturbed, and each time the reply came, "His Majesty is playing whist."

Another cool whist-player was Lord Sligo. When the news arrived that his magnificent residence was on fire he stopped only a moment to ascertain whether or not his presence could be of material service on the scene of the conflagration. Finding that it would not, he caimly took up the hand which had been dealt him while he was talking with the messenger and resumed play.

Unless Espartero and his foe, Marota, are much belied, their quarrel was settled by a game of cards in a farmhouse at Bergara, where they met to arrange a truce between their respective forces. No sooner did Espartero enter the room than the Carlist chief challenged him to a game of tresilio, a challenge which the Christino commander accepted with alacrity. Espartero first won all Marota's money; then his own conditions for the truce, article by article, and finally the entire submission of the Carlist army. Within twenty-four hours Marota had paid his debt, and the flerc

in a single evening. His lordship's wager, to be quite fair, should have been £1827 to£1. It is said that he won his wager many thousand times.

According to a recent report a young lady at a whist party held ten of the thirteen trumps. Such a hand is exceedingly rare. As for the chances of holding a thirteen-trump hand they are esculated to be 180.000,000,000 to 1.

At the Union Club of Boulogne some years ago the dealer dealt the twenty-six red cards to himself and partner, and the black cards to their opponents. When we come to realize that the odds against such a round of hands are $.000.000 to 1, we must admit that this was very remarkable.

Louise Phillipe, while playing whist one evening dropped a louis and stopped the game to look for it, whereupon a foreign embassador, one of the party, set fire to a billet of f.1000 to give a light to the King in his search under the table. The embassador evidently had money to burn.

A GRAND BOULEVARD. The Finest in the World and Cost

(Pittsburgh Dispatch:) Gotham will some day—and not a very far-of day, either—possess one of the most famous thoroughfares in the world. Quietly and irresistibly as the operation of the tides and other forces of nature, New York has proceeded toward the realization of one of its inevitable improvements—a grand concourse or boulevard extending from the Harlem River to Mosholu Parkway. It will be a grand drive and promenade connecting the park systems of the metropolis. This enterprise, when realized, will surpass even the famous boulevards of Paris.

It is to run for four and a half miles along the river, dividing the Hudson River and Long Island Sound, beginning at the intersection of One Hundred and Sixty-first street and Mott avenue, its northern terminus being Mosholu
Parkway, just east of Jerome avenue.
No streets will cross it at grade, but ali will go beneath it, a result that is particularly practicable by the naturallyelevated situation of this unique highway. Its cost is to be about $20,000,000.
$3,000.000 of which, it is estimated, will be required for the acquiation of rightof-way. The time allowed for its construction is three years. Within a year, according to the engineers in charge, the work will be well under way. The inst Legislature gave the city authorities in charge of such improvements ali the law needed to condemn property, arrangements for prosecuting the work, which is to be unique among the famous streets of the earth.

A glance at the plans prepared shows that the width of the concourse will be will be utilized so as to make the thoroughfare attractive. In the rough ass, 000 has been in splendid land for the new institution, and $15,000 in good, cold cash.

"The Senator does his giving in the most underhanded and unostentatious way in the world," said a prominent Mason and one closely connected with the university to be. "He seems almost timid in the way he does it. But he is a grand and generous man, and withal one of the biggest in the country. He has merely intimated from time to time to a close friend his interest in the university, and after a while the tangible would follow. He has done more now for the university than any other one man, but he has done it so quietly that the fact has almost escaped notice."

One of the officials connected with the new university received a letter from a Mason of New England, stating that the Masonic lodges there were beginning to take hold of the national university at Beaver. Already the grand officers of New England have given formal notice that they are ready to receive endowment funds for the national university. It is stated that from the replies already received New England stands ready to contribute millions to the university.

Officer Arguello distinguished hiraself yesterday.

Officer Arguello is one of the mounted officers of the police department. At present he is detailed to help guard the chain-gang. Yesterday afternoon he was standing on the high bank on the south side of Bellevue avenue near Hill street when he saw a runaway team come dashing down the hill on a dead run dragging the front wheels a dead run, dragging the front wheels of a lumber-wagon after it. A little Mexican child was right in the path of the runaway team. Death or terrible injury was certain unless something injury was certain unless romething turned the team uside. Without a moment's hesitation Officer Arguello seized his riata and jumped down the bank, slipping and falling thirty feet, to the cement sidewalk. As he slipped down he got his lariat rhady and when he struck the ground he left it fly. The coil flew over-the head of one of the horses and tightened. The strain whirled the horses to the left, inst in time to save the child's life. But the runaways were going with such momentum that they dragged Officer Arguello half a block along Hill street. When he had stopped them the heels had been toon from his shoes, and the soles were full of holes. His clothes were torn and solled, but he had the happy consciousness that by his promptness, agilfy, daring and skill he hed save! a child's life.

Grosvenor Telis a Story.

(New York Tribune:) When Gen. Grosvenor heard the news from New Hampshire he was talking to a friend, and is reported to have said: "That convention reminds me of a story. There was once a monkey noted for its pranks. It was particularly mischlevous, and did much to annoy its owner by its tricks. One day it tore down a whole line full of clean clothes which had just been washed. The woman who had washed the clothes was angry. She captured the offender and took him in the house. Finally, to keep him out of mischief, she tied him by a rope to a heavy cage which was standing on the window sill of the third story of the flouse. This enabled him to clamber around and enjoy himself, but he could not go very far. The woman returned to the yard to wash out the soiled clothes, when the monkey caught sight of her. He became furious, grinned and chattered, and finally, in a towering passion, he grasped the cage to which he was tied, with both paws and hurled it with all his force at the woman. He apparently forgot that he was attached to it, and the result was that he was dragged off the window sill, and in the fall was killed." At this point the general stopped and looked wise. His friend said, inquiringly. "Well?" Gen. Grosvenor then added: "It is just as well to learn what you are attached to before you begin to throw things around." Then the Ohlo statesman walked off.

Last Sunday night burglars broke into the Humber Cyclery, at No. 519 South Broadway, and stole a small sum of money from the cash drawer. Louis Benjamin, one of the proprietors, had started home Sunday night, when he bethought himself that he had left $130 in the cash drawer. He hesitated a moment and then went back and recovery the started that he had been supported that the head and the started that he had been supported to the suppor a moment and then went back and put the money in the safe, only leaving some $$ in small change in the cash drawer. Self-evident.

(Topeka State Journal:) Senator Butler of North Carolina has introduced a joint resolution for an amendment to the Constitution which shall make a majority sufficient to override the Presidential veto instead of a two-thirds vote as now. It would be just as well to take away, the veto power at once, since, under such an arrangement as Senator Butler proposes, if there were enough votes to pass a measure, there were would, of course, be enough to pass it over a veto.

ple who go up to the summit of Mount Lowe is rapidly increasing, the Alpine Tavern giving an opportunity of entertainment so convenient to the upper bridle road. The saddle animals are kept quite busy, under the supervision and guidance of Mr. Regan.

Preparations are in progress at Echo Mountain House for the entertainment of the visiting hotel men, who will be here to the number of several hundred on the 21st and 22d inst, On the evening of the 21st Prof. Lowe will give a banquet in their honor. The writer has had an advance glimpse of the most beautiful centerpiece which is being prepared by George Combe, the accomplished chef of the hotel. In its design and construction much taste and skill have been exercised, and the visitors will fully appreciate the kindly spirit manifested in its construction.

Among recent arrivals are J. I. Alibaster, Chicago; E. L. Congers, Olive Byron, San Bernardino; Dr. Nutfield, Leo Lister, Los Angeles; Rev. E. W. Meany and wife, Prescott, Arlz.; W. W. Whitney, Toledo, O.; E. B. DeGolla, Oakland; H. M. Singer, Pasadena; Alice S. Cowles, Chicago; Mrs. C. H. Shattuck and child, Alhambra.

A PROPHETESS.

A special from Paris to the New York Sun says: "The craze of the day is over Mile. Couesdon, who modestly assumes the role of mouthplece of the Angel Gabriel to the French nation and the world. Her interesting message is to announce an immediate war, which will result in the complete humiliation of both France and England. The pa-to announce an immediate war, which will result in the complete humiliation of both France and England. The papers give full accounts of the young woman's words and doings. Priests, doctors and psychological investigators wait upon her in hourly delegations. The street where she lives—appropriately enough, the Rue Paradis—is blocked by a mob of superstitious believers from moraing till midnight. The disturbance has become so great that the police notified her yesterday that the must change her quarters. The most remarkable thing about her is that, like Schlatter, she refuses to accept a penny for making use of her alleged supernatural powers.

"This is her simple history: Her parents, well-to-do Breton people, noticed six or seven months ago that the usual placidity of their daughter gave way to fits, stupors and trances, during which the girl would utter extraordinary phrases in a gruff voice. They attributed this at first to indigestion, then to a small disappointment in love affairs, and thought a change of surroundings would do her good; but the Angel Gabriel willed otherwise. He had chosen Mile Couesdon for fuifilling a mission of truth, and, finding the atmosphere of St. Brieuc unpropitious for the propagands, ordered the Couesdon family to return-to Paris.

"She certainly disconcerts the most skeptical of callers, including journalists, doctors and other hard-headed persons. An English correspondent who talked with her says: 'She fails instantly into a trance and answers questions in a sing-song manner, automatically, and in a voice which certainly is not hers. There is no mistake that she tells you extraordinary things about your intimate affairs and the precision of her statements is disquieting.

"Her general European prophecy is that universal war will come within a tells you extraordinary things about your intimate affairs and the precision of her statements is disquieting.

"Her general European prophecy is that universal war will come within a year, including a revolution in Paris, followed by the dismemberment of France, an enlargement of secondary powers like Belgium and Switzerland, and the destruction of English wealth and power will be almost as complete. The Roman Catholic clergy have thronged to see the prophetess in such numbers that Cardinal Richard has forbidden them to visit her.

A Beautiful Record.

(New York Mail and Express:) It is a beautiful financial record that the Democracy will present to the country this year as a piea for a renewal of its lease of power—a balance sheet showing a vast excess of government expenses over government income and the adverse difference shouldered off on posterity at good stiff rates of interest. It is much as if a confidential clerk should ask for further employment in the same capacity oh the sole ground that he had been able to raise a forced loan from a trust estate to make good a shortage in his own accounts.

THE SUGAR SUPPLY. Speaking of the supply of sugar required by Ameri-can sugar-refineries for the remainder of the present season, the New York Merchants' Review says it will have to Merchants' Review says it will have to come from the beet fields of Europe. This is a fact, it says, very displeasing to some of the Southern and Western sugar producers. These latter have, it is stated, sent delegates to Washington, asking that the duty on German sugar be increased and made equal to the amount of the export bounty paid in Germany.

JAPAN'S COTTON TRADE. As an cotton goods, it may be stated that Japan took 5537 bales of cotton from the United States during the month of Feb-ruary last, as compared with only 1600 bales during the same month last year.

CALIFORNIA SHIPMENTS. Figures nuts, wine, brandy and vegetables in nuts, wine, brandy and vegetables in 1895, an increase over 1894 of 5346 carloads. Of fruit alone the shipments were 37,160 carloads. In 1890 the shipments of fruit were only 16,195 carloads. If all the orchards in California now bearing were to put out a full crop this year the exports of fruit should, it is estimated, reach 50,000 carloads.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS. SINGLE-AUCTION SYSTEM. The

California Fruit-growers and Shippers' Association has agreed to support the single-auction system in eastern cities. The resolution embodying the plan is as

The resolution embodying the plan is as follows:

"That it is the sense of this committee of conference that the directors of the California Fruit-growers and Shippers' Association be authorized to establish consolidated auction salesrooms upon neutral ground in the various eastern cities, said salesrooms to be made free to all buyers, auctioneers, receivers and shippers of California fruits upon a fair and equitable basis to all and subject to the absolute control of the association."

The San Francisco Call commenting on this says:

"That is to say, rival auction rooms are abolished, and any grower, shipper or dealer may employ his own auctioneer in the central agencies established, and the service will be open and free to all. This is a combination of excellent features, as it takes the control of auctions out of the bands of exercises desired.

features, as it takes the control of auctions out of the hands of eastern deal ers and commission men, and retains it entirely in the hands of interested parers and commission men, and retains it entirely in the hands of interested parties in California. Under a system so broad and fair it will be impossible for growers and dealers not in the association to secure any advantage from the maintenance of rival sales and auction rooms, but on the contrary the manifest advantages which they will secure by availing themselves of the new plan will induce them to unite with the association and thus greatly advance the interests of all concerned.

As the single-auction plan is to be established in all the leading eastern citles, this being possible under the measure adopted by the association, the outlook for the fruit industry of California is exceedingly bright. Gen. Chipman's prediction that this State must come to be regarded as the orchard of the United States is now made easy of fulfillment. This could never have been accomplished under the loose and competitive system heretofore in vogue."

SAN FRANCISCO BANKS. Referring to the report just issued by the State Bank Commissioners of the condition on March 29 last of the two savings banks and sixteen commercial banks of San Francisco Chromicle says: "When compared with the last report, which was made November 1 last, the new one makes the startling showing that the deposits in the commercial banks have decreased 36,073,601.46. The deposits in savings banks have, during the same period of five months, increased $1,038,920.92. The representatives of half a dozen commercial bankers who were interviewed by a Chromicle reporter were highly elated at such a change. It was much more favorable than any of them had dared to hope."

dared to hope."

The ten savings banks show total resources amounting to $116,109,474.38, of which $106,188,891.53 was on deposit. The resources of the sixteen commercial banks were $68,704,576.38, of which $26,906.787.89 was on deposit.

DUN'S WEEKLY REPORT. In some branches of retail trade the movement has increased the past week, especially dry goods and millinery, otherwise there is no improvement to record. Jobbers report on the whole sales just average. Country merchants are not disposed to anticipate the future to any extent in buying. The waiting business feeling that pervades the East seems to reach here to a degree.

Collections do not improve. The increase in the number of failures throughout the country is a matter of general comment. With us it is due to the fact, so often spoken of, that every line of retail business is overdone. Too many are contending for the patronage to be distributed. Wholesalers are scanning credits more closely. It will be the old solution "the survival of the fittest." DUN'S WEEKLY REPORT. In some

Wholesale Quotations Revised Daily.

LOS ANGELES, April 15, 1896.

Farmers are sending in their old hay more freely, which is taken to mean that there will be a fair crop of new and of good quality. Eggs have gone up another cent. Some dealers complain that farmers are holding back for higher prices and that there is not enough on hand to supply the demand. Others say they find no difficulty in filling orders. Pears are about out of market. Strawberries are lower, also green peas. Cabbage, beets, radiahes and onions are firmer. There is a disposition to shade bran and rolled oats, but a fair price is quoted below.

'The following quotations are fer average grades of the products mentioned. For an extra choice article a somewhat better price than the highest quoted can usually be obtained, while for a product of decidely inferior quality the seller will probably have to accept less than the lowest published quotation.)

NEW YORK April 15—Today's stock market fell considerably short of general expectations, or a street fell considerably short of general expectations, or a street fell considerably short of general expectations, as a finternal show of aliman pointing, as at internal of the speculation, however, was unmistakably sirong. A gratifying development and one that offsel a firmer tendency in exchange rates was a renewal of interest in American securities by foreign dealings, stying some confirmation of the current suggestion toat the visit of Mr. Morgan to London will be favorably reflected in this market, through awakened investment demand for our rall-way securities. The continued accumulation of idle capital in London is causing operators at that center to redirect their attention to this market. Well-informed financiers, however, still depreate tha disproportionate activity in the shares to the large volume of business in the industrial list. There was again today a moderate demand for securities by commission houses. The early dealings were characterized by a certain amount of snap, but after the first rush of buying orders was executed the market yielded on realizing sales, and the temporarily unfavorable effect of an advance in posted rates of sechange of a half cant. The market soon steadled, however, prices, however, being well held. der and lightning, which were followed by frosts, generally light except in the lowlands, where they were severe, considerable damage being done in portions of Los Angeles, Riverside and Orange counties to tender vegetables, vineyards and young fruit.

The rainfall was generally too light to be of much benefit, and copious showers are needed, especially in Ventura county, where the precipitation was deficient.

San Luis Obispo county—San Luis Obispo city: Four-tenths of an inch of rain fell during the week, and the conditions were generally favorable for crops. Musick: The week was generally cold, haif falling occasionally.

The rain from the 6th to the 10th, amounting to 40 inches, was fine for all crops, and put corn land in good condition.

Ventura county—Bardsdale: The weather has been cool and dry, with light frosts on the 9th and 10th, which were preceded by strong west winds. No serious damage was done to fruit or crops, as but little corn or tender crops were out of the ground. Beans will be the chief crop; hay needs moisture, and rain is badly wanted. West Saticoy: The storm of April 10 was not accompanied by thunder nor lightning; there was no frost in this section, but cold nights and severe west winds have been detrimental to growing barley, which is beginning to prematurely head out. As the fruit crop is very light no damage was done by the winds; rain is needed. Highest temperature 78 deg.: lowest, 32 deg.

Los Angeles county—Los Angeles city: The weather was much cooler than the seasonal average, the mean for the week being 4 deg, below the normal. Fresh to brisk westerly winds prevailed and sprinkling rain fell on the 9th and 10th. The highest temperature was 72 deg.; lowest, 40 deg. Lancaster: The past week was cold and very windy, and on Friday it showered and halled. La Cañada: Sprinkling rain fell on the 9th and 10th; the highest temperature was 63 deg.; lowest, 34 deg. Colegrove: The weather was bright and pleasant until the 9th and 10th, when cool, stiff breezes came from the west. Light showers passed to the north and south of here. Deciduous fruits are setting well: lemon trees are looking well, and full of fruit in all stages of growth. Passadena: The weather has been cool. Light sprinkles of rain fell on the 9th and 10th. Heavy showers passed southward of us on the 10th. accompanied by thunder, and lightning and hall. A light frost, which did no damage, occurred on the morning of the 11th. Crops are looking well, but need rain badly. Duarter there was quite a change in the weather the past week; a trace of rain fell on the 9th and 03 inches fell on the 10th. A light hallstorm during the attractions of the well, but need rain badly. Duarte: There was quite a change in the weather the past week; a trace of rain fell on the 9th and .03 inches fell on the, 19th. A light hallstorm during the afternoon of the 10th, and on the following night there was a severe frost in some places in the low grounds; in one large vineyard the crop was badly damaged. Corn and potatoes were frosted in some localities. The winds were fresh to brisk on the 9th and 10th, from the south to southwest. Covins: The past week was cooler with strong westerly winds blowing in the daytime, and light frosts at night. Barley and whas no damage was done to grain or fruits. No special phenomena appeared during frosts.

Riverside county—Moreno: Cool days held back vegetation, but forgy mornings were beneficial to the barley crop A sharp hallstorm occurred the latter part of the week, and was followed by frost, which destroyed some early fruit in low situations. Strawberries are ripening, the first full crop.

Orange county—Fullerton: The weather was fine the first part of the week; the latter part was windy and cloudy, but no rain fell. Light frost formed on Saturday, but did no harm. Early-sown grain on mesa lands will make neither grain nor hay, and rain will not help it how; late grain still looks well. Santa Ana:—The week was exceptionally cool for April; frost contred in some localities on two nights, which injured new potatoes and garden truck. The first mowing of the new alfalfa crop is now in progress. Orange trees are unusually full of blossoms; apricots are light, but are well distributed; walnuts are blooming exceedingly full. The highest temperature was 74 deg.; lowest, 38 deg. Tustin: There was light frost on two mornings. Apricots are setting variously, but generally light. Barley promises fairly well in most places. Capistrano: We had a stiff breeze on the 10th, but no rain, hall, thunder or lightning. A light frost slightly injured young sprouts on walnut trees; orchards lately irrigated show more injury than those not irrigated; fruit trees show no damage. Highest temperature, 68 deg.; lowest, 46 deg.

San Dlego county—San Dlego city: The temperature was 9 deg. less than the average for the week; the highest was 68 deg.; lowest, 46 deg.

ing it was learnel that T. D. Huff was dead.

Mr. Huff got up this morning feeling as well as usual, and, as has been his custom recently, drove out to his English walnut orchard after breakfast to do a little hoeing around the trees before coming up to his store. Upon this occasion he left home about 6:30 o'clock. At 7:30 a young Mexican, Fred Neiblas, saw him lying on the ground under one of his young trees that stood near the road. Thinking strangely of the attitude of the supposed sleeper the boy rode over to him, when it was discovered he was dead. The boy notified Theodore Lacy, Jr., who lived nearby, and word was sent into the city at once to the family, of the sorrowful find and he was subsequently removed to his late residence. At 1:30 p.m. an inquest was held over the remains, the verdice of the jury being that death resulted from natural causes.

Mr. Huff's death was presumably the direct result of heart-disease. He was found lying on his face with his left arm under him and the hoe-handle still held in his right hand, showing that death came so suddenly that he had no note of warning of its approach.

Mr. Huff was born in Indiana near he has since been largely identified in a business way.

The deceased leaves a widow and four children, Mrs. Dr. T. C. Donnell of Franklin, Ind., and W. A. and C. S. Huff of Santa Ana, these two latter sons being interested with him here in mercantile business.

The funeral services will be held Friday morning at the late residence on East First street at 10 o'clock and interment will take place in the Santa Ana Cemetery.

LOCAL POLITICS.

As the time approaches for the primaries to be held in this county for the selection of delegates to the county convention to elect delegates to the State convention at Sacramento, interest grows space, and the McKinley sentiment spreads to the utmost limits of the county. It has been rumored that the Southern Pacific Company is attempting to take a hand in Orange-county politics through certain well-known channels, and this rumor has set the voters to thinking all over the county, and especially in Santa Ana. SAN BERNARDINO, April 15.—Ted Dillon pleaded guilty today to the charge of forgery, and was sentenced to twenty months in San Quentin. The crime for which Dillon was originally apprehended was forgery of indorsements on time checks of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad at Ludlow. He has made three escapes since first being arrested. Once at Bargtow he broke from confinement with Oregon boots on his lers, and handcuffs on his wrists, and hopped on his hands and feet in the darkness of night a distance of four miles. Later he was caught by a constable at Mojave, as he was about to board a freight train. The constable drew his revolver and told him to throw up his hands. While the two men were standing thus facing each other the train started, and Dillon ran and boarded it, making good his escape. CHAT WITH GOV. M'KINLEY.

Joseph Demmon, who is visiting relatives in Pomona, is a resident of Canton, O., and left there last Wednesday. He knows Gov. McKinley personally. They were neighbors in Canton for several years. Mr. Demmon says he had a chat with Mr. McKinley last week, Thursday, and has seen him a dozen times a week all the past winter. He says the Governor is the same cool, reserved, but affable man he was years before he dreamed he would be the first choice of several millions of Republicans for President, Mr. Demmon says the Governor is approachable by anyone who really wants to see him, and that he has callers from every State and Territory in the Union. Gov. McKinley is, he said, in the pink of health, and that Mrs. McKinley, who has been an invalid for fifteen or more years, is in better health this reason than before in a long time. He says that the last time he chatted with the Fovernor, and told him that he (Demmon) was leaving for Southern California, Gov. McKinley replied that he cryied any man who could throw aside responsibility for a few weeks tand get away from hard work, by going out to such a paradise on earth as he imagined Southern California must be when the rains were over and the roses and orange trees were in full bloom. "The Governor knows mighty well," said Mr. Demmon, "that he has an army of good friends in California, and some day when he gets relief from the staggering amount of work he has had on hand for ten years he will be coming out here with Mrs. McKinley." I have lived in the city for several years, and during that time have never heard the editor of the Express accused of having any definite ideas of the difference between honor and dishonor, honesty and dishonesty, truth and falsehood, and we might do him an injustice should we might do him an injustice should we might community. It is manifestly unjust to hold a person responsible for what was left out in his original makeup. We never attach any importance to the mistakes in regard to color of one who is color-bilind, and it might be well to exercise a like charity toward the editor of the Express when he ventures an opinion upon any question of which his highest and only conception may be the name.

Vernon School Controversy.

Trouble has arisen in Vernon on account of the annexation of a part of the school district to the city. The new board of directors demands that the old, which consists of P. W. Sams, Frank Townsend and E. M. Millsap turn over all the property of the district to those living in the part not annexed. The schoolhouse stands on ground now included in the city. The members of the old board were at the District Attorney's office yesterday, seeking advice in the matter, and Assistant County School Superintendent Wright went out to Vernon to see if a compromise could be arranged and formally acted upon at the next meeting.

SAN DIEGO BREVITIES.

The County Horticultural Association held an instructive session at the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday. President Philip Morse referred to the increased Shipments of products from this county, saying that the steamship company reported an increase of 50 per cent. In these shipments for the first three months of 1896, over the corresponding period in 1895. L. E. Allen discussed the best method of irrigation, He beld that irrigating by springling was the best. Irrigation by spraying had killed every kind of insect pest on his trees, including the Florida purple. His theory is that saturating the tree with water starts an electric current through the tree. A tree needing water receives it at once when sprinkled and trees get more moisture and nutriment, so he believes, through their leaves than from the soil.

so he believes, through their leaves than from the soil.

The City Board of Equalization passes a resolution, saying: "We are compelled to note that much of the outside and non-producing property is assessed at its full market value; we also notice considerable of the best inside property is assessed at a lower rate than its market value, and would therefore recommend to the Assessor that in future he, so far as possible, correct this apparent inequality. As a whole, we consider the assessment too high."

Judge George Puterbaugh says of the city water question, that he favors municipal ownership of the water plant by the city if possible. This is the general sentiment of the leading citizens and taxpayers. They object to bonding the city for $1,500,000, and then not obtaining complete ownership of the water plant.

LOS ANGELES PRESBYTERY.

Discussed a New Location for Occidental College. POMONA, April 15 .- (Regular Corre spondence.) The Presbytery of Los Angeles met in the First Presbyterian Church of Pomona at 7:30 p.m., April 14. But the official meeting was pre-ceded by devotional meetings of an interesting character.

The retiring moderator, Rev. Williel Thompson, preached the usual sermon, after which Rev. L. F. Laverty of the Second Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles was elected moderator. Rev. Malcom McLeod was elected temporary clerk and Rev. J. M. Newell assistant.

temporary clerk and Rev. J. M. Newell assistant.

The following-named were admitted as members of the Presbytery upon presentation of regular letters of dismissal from other presbyteries: J. K. Fowler, D.D., O. F. Wisner, James Stone, H. H. Rice, Rev. White, Rev. Van Pelt.

The Wednesday morning session of the presbytery opened with devotional exercises, led by Rev. J. M. Newell.

The churches that were reported as having been recently organized were Del Mar, Almondale and Fruitvale.

The following-named brethren were invited to sit as corresponding members: L. H. Frary, E. A. Avery, D.D., Rev. Wilbur, Rev. Waterman.

The report of the Committee on the Board of Aid for Colleges was presented by the Rev. Dr. Dinsmore of Alhambra, and it was evident that this report was not as "dry as dust" from the interesting discussion which followed.

the interesting discussion which followed.

The question of the location of Occidental College awakened a most enthusiastic expression of interest in the college and its future. Dr. Dinsmore's report seemed to favor the location of the new college buildings at some point equally acceptable to Passadena and Los Angeles as being most desirable on account of health, beauty of scenery as well as accessibility.

President Condit gave a clear, practical and hopeful address, followed by Dr. Weller, who, with great energy, urged the importance of such an institution as the Occidental College on the Pacific Coast.

The noon hour having arrived tha presbytery took a recess until 2 o'clock and repaired to the bountiful tables prepared by the ladies of the First Presbyterian Church of Pomona. It may be said, in passing, that these ladies have been indefatigable in preparing two meals per day for more than a hundred ministers and elders.

At the afternoon session the following were chosen as commissioners to the next general assembly in Saratoga, N. Y.: Revs. Henderson, Hartley, Craig and Williel Thompson and Eldera Messrs. Galbreth, Gordon, Gidley and Deacon.

Messrs. Galbreth, Gordon, Gidley and Deacon.

The report of the Committee on the establishment of a depository of the Presbyterian Board of Publication of Los Angeles was presented by Rev. W. S. Young and informed the presbytery that such a depository has been established with C. C. Parker, at No. 246 South Broadway, Los Angeles, where in future all the publications of the board may be found.

The report on Young Peoples' Societies was presented by Rev. R. B. Taylor of San Bernardino and was followed by a most interesting address by Rev. W. E. Dodge.

At the evening session the Rev. H. H. Rice, formerly of Oakland, was installed as pastor of the First Church of Pomona. The sermon was preached by Dr. Fowler of Los Angeles, the charge to the people was given by Rev. Kipp of San Diego and the charge to the pastor by Rev. Mr. Fife of Pasadena.

Cradle Songs Given Two Successfu There were good houses at both pre-sentations of the "Cradle Songs of All Nations" at the Los Angeles Theater

There were good houses at both presentations of the "Cradle Songs of All Nations" at the Los Angeles Theater yesterday. The matinée opened with a repetition of the Central American scene, so admirably put on Tuesday evening. Miss Elizabeth Kimball sang the lullaby charmingly. Miss Edna Bicknell sang "if Thou Didst Love Me." Mr. Cornell gave a baritone solo. In the oriental scene Miss Marie Johnson gave an Egyption lullaby and dance, Miss Affrey gave the veil dance and Mr. Toplits gave a fitte solo.

The French scene was represented by Mrs. Gerhardy, the Misses Severns, Conkiln. R. Gibson, Margaret Hull, Grate Blakelee, Messrs Frank Muchmore and Jack Corson. Miss Kimball sang the lullaby, little Hasel Bryson gave a delightful whistling solo, which was heartily encored, and "Little Zoe" sang "Flight of the Words." Prof. Kramer's pupils, the Misses Neille Lockwood, Ida Hassen and Ada Smith, danced an exceedingly graceful skirtdance, which was enthusiastically applauded.

In the Italian scene Miss Lockhart sang the lullaby very sweetly and looked extremely pretty in her pleturesque costume. Miss Ada. Smith gave La Belle dance, and Miss Afriey gave an aesthetic physical drill. The others who took part in the scene were the Misses Young, Severns, Conklin, Hull and Messrs. Muchmore and Corson. In the negro scene, which was given both afternoon and evening, Miss Seamans, blackened out of all resemblance to herself, worked away at an ironing table singing a lullaby, and Mrs. Loeb, presiding industriously at a wash-tub, took an active part in the conversation. Mrs. Anita Ray Simpson, assisted by Mrs. Steineke as "Angle" sang "Ma Angeline," repeating her success of Tuesday evening. Last evening "Angle" created a diversion by turning extrations and Mrs. Cother Misses Etta Jacoby sang the cradie song so charming the she was twice recalled. Will Manning gave a vocal solo, Miss Robinson gave two charming recitations and Mrs. Cothernal sang "Angus MacDonaid." At the evening "Angus MacDonaid." At the evening sense was the faste

ENTERTAINMENT OFFERED HOTEL MEN AT SANTA MONICA.

Spanish and Aquatic Sports in Their Honor—Chile-con-Carne at the Barbecue—Pelted with Flowers by the School Children.

The visiting hotel men were enter-tained in royal style at Santa Monica yesterday. They were driven to points of interest in and about town, there of interest in and about town, there were Spanish and aquatic sports in their honor, a barbeene, and they had a chance to try the surf bathing—something almost unheard of at this time of year in the land beyond the mountains. If all of them don't henceforth picture to the guests of their respective caravansaries, the advantages of Santa Montea as a place to visit or for Santa Monica as a place to visit or for residence, it won't be the fault of the Santa Monica people.

A large part of the guests who arrived on the two trains which came Tuesday evening on the Southern Parising and the Arradia. cific were quartered at the Arcadia and Jackson hotels. Yesterday morning citizens with carriages drove the visitors about town and quite a large number of them spent much of the time on the beach, many never before visitors hestitated about trying an outdoor bath in April, but, seeing numerous residents out in the surf, they were reassured and not a few donned bathing suits. That it was the first experience of the kind with some, was evident from remarks overheard in the dressing-rooms. "How do you get these suits on anyway," said one voice. "This is a warm suit," said another. "You'll think it is tissue paper for all the warmth you'll get out of it after it's wet," said a third, who had evidently "been there before."

Meanwhile preparations had been energetically going forward for what was to come later. Two pits, lined warmth brick, and big enough to hold stacks and stacks of meat, had been made, fires had been put in to roast. Tables were arranged near by on the lot known as the old Santa Monica hotel site, adjoining Ocean avenue near Railroad avenue, this part of the festivities being in charge of H. X. Goetz.

Shortly before noon, the City Guard Band of San Diego, which had been paying in front of the Arcadia Hotel during the morning, marched to where the feast had been prepared and been incomply showcase. the feast had been prepared and be-hind came most of the visitors. Santa Monica people, who were present in large numbers, fell back so as to give the visitors the first chance. Many of them had evidently never attended a barbecue previously and they cast not a few ourlous glances at the bits where a few curious glances at the pits where the savory meats were steaming, ready to be taken out, cut and served. Huge chunks of the roast beef were withdrawn, dumped on a table and cut with a rapidity born of experience. Chile-con-carne liberally mixed with olives, was dished out speedily and a portion of bread, meat and chile was put on a plate for each guest. Over a pit from which the live coals had not been withdrawn, small pieces of beef which had been placed on spits and deftly turned, were cooked. After the visitors had been served, Santa Monicans were fed.

SPANISH SPORTS.

spanish sports was presented in the afternoon. Mayor J. J. Carrillo being in charge. The first of these was a ring tournament in which six riders each had seven chances of catching with a lance three two-inch rings suspended. A grandstand had been erected for the visitors, but unfortunately the wind was unusually chilly, and some of them felt compelled to leave before the tournament was completed. There were cash prizes. The scores out of a possible twenty-one made by the several contestants, were as follows: Vicente Lugo. 1; Augustine Machado, 10; Juan Machado, 9; Jose Machado, 10; Juan Machado, 9; Jose Machado, 10; Juan Machado, 10; Lassoling horses after which there was a contest in picking objects from the ground while riding past on a run. The latter was done on Ocean avenue in front of the Arcadia. The contestants were: José Machado, Adreas Rangel and two riders named Augustine Machado. José Machado scored 2 picks, and 2 touches; Augustine Machado. 3 touches of a possible 4.

Soon after the commencement of the Spanish sports the pupils of the public school with a great quantity of flowers marched past the grand stand and pelted its occupants with the blossoms. Such a bombardment of flowers in April was a surprise to the easterners, which they evidently appreciated, for there was great scrambling for the flying bouquets.

It was expected a delegation of innacepers would arrive from Denver soon after noon, but they failed to come. In the evening aquatic sports were offered at the North Beach bathhouse, and a hop at the Arcadia. The hotel men left in their special trains at 11 p.m. for Santa Barbara by way of Los Angeles.

Over in East Los Angeles, on the Mission road. where it runs into North Main street, hard by the East Side Park, is a brick saloon run by Anton Thomas. Monday afternoon George Abbott entered the saloon, in company with Rudolph Leon, a boy of about nineteen years. Abbott has a very bad reputation and the men in the saloon betrayed their evident desire to have as little to do with him as possible. Abbott and Leon stayed in the saloon several hours, drinking and playing cards. After a while Abbott began to grow quarrelsome and got into a broil with the saloon-keeper, Thomas. At last he drew his pistol and flourished it threateningly in the air, firing several shors at the ceiling. The men knew him as a bad man from Bitter Creek. Each one felt sure the next shot would strike him and one and all fied precipitately and looked not behind.

At last the proprietor, Thomas, ventured back. There in the doorway stood Abbott, revolver in hand, ready for a fight. He cursed Thomas roundly and ordered him off. Thomas glanced into the bar-room and saw Leon inside riding the contents of the cash register. Thomas entreated Leon not to rob him. Abbott swore at him some more and ordered him off. Thomas retreated to a safe distance and looked back in despair as the two toughs, hurried out of the saloon and hastened into the East Side Park.

The police were notified and Detectives Bradish and Hawley went forth to search for the two robbers. At 11:30 culock the same night (Monday) they haptured Abbott in the home of some Hexican friends on Guirado street, with whom he had taken refuge. Detective Hawley arrested Rudolph Leon yesterday morning. The full amount stolen was $14 or $15. The robbers left only 15 cents in the cash drawer.

On September 17, 1891, Abbott was arrested by Detective Bosqui for an offense of much the same kind. In company with Alberto Acevedo and other hard citizens, he held up a Chinaman and robbed him of all the money he had about him. For this offense Abbott served a five-years' term in San Quentin. He is only about twenty-seven years old. Leen, Abbott's partner in crime, is a boy of 19. Lately he has been out of work and has been associating with the notorlous Abbott family.
